Oakhill boss claims report was hijacked

Progress: Oakhill boss Malcolm Stevens

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

THE director of the city's young offenders centre has rejected calls for its closure after an independent report highlighted a 'staggering' use of force by staff.

The annual inspection of Oakhill Secure Training Centre (STC) by Ofsted and the prisons inspectorate found that some teachers were visibly frightened of children.

Yesterday director Malcolm Stevens told MK NEWS that the report lacked context and insisted that it is too late to temporarily close the centre.

Last year we revealed a string of concerns from whistle-blowers inside Oakhill. A hostage situation, children swallowing bleach and staff shortages were some of the allegations that led staff to refer to it as 'Jokehill'.

The Ofsted report showed there were 377 assaults on staff in the first nine months of last year. Force was used 757 times to control children in nine months.

The centre, opened by G4S in 2004 on a 25-year contract, is supposed to cater for 80 boys and girls aged 12-17. The number has been capped at 56 although their were 48 inmates at the time of the inspection.

But Mr Stevens said closure was not an option and the Ofsted report had been 'hijacked' by prison inspectors who had never been there before.

He said: "There is no point closing it now. That might have been an option last July but that sort of thinking is history now.

"Some members of staff have been dismissed because they've been heavy handed with children and I can't tolerate that. Turning these centre's around is difficult. We have to change the minds of staff from a prison culture to one you would expect to see in a children's home."

Chief Inspector of Prisons Anne Owers said in her report: "It might be more realistic to empty the centre briefly so it can be re-launched with a properly trained and reinvigorated staff".

Mr Stevens admitted the number of restraints (Physical Control in Care) was high.

"It was far too high and that was my focus when I got here," he said. "The three previous inspections were all critical but at least this one showed some progress."

The report said there were some signs of improvement, including recruiting experienced staff, but education and training continues to be inadequate.

Mr Stevens said he wants to transform the centre from a 'punishment culture' to one which rewards progress and believes it will take until July to complete the transition.

Champ in the frame

THEY were going snooker loopy at Lovat Fields Village in Willen last Thursday when snooker star Dennis Taylor arrived for an evening or Irish wit and banter.

It was a great day for resident Derek Ainge who beat the former world champion, potting the black in a special one-frame challenge match.

The evening was a huge success and raised funds for the ExtraCare Capital Appeal.

Pot that: Dennis Taylor looks on as Derek Ainge plays a shot on his way to a great win

Teenager lay dead as pal watched TV

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

AN 18-YEAR-OLD boy lay dead on the floor while his friend watched TV, an inquest has heard.

The teenager had spent the night drinking 'massive' amounts of alcohol and his friend thought he was sleeping off a hangover.

Sam Down, who lived with his parents in Kents Road, Stantonbury, was confirmed dead at Milton Keynes Hospital on Saturday October 27 just before 2pm.

An inquest into his death, held yesterday (Tuesday March 18), heard that he had spent the night with his 24-year-old friend Elliot Cooper-Carroll.

Mr Cooper-Carroll, a self-employed painter and decorator, picked Mr Down up after work at 4pm on Friday, October 26 and the pair went to a shop in New Bradwell to buy six cans of lager each.

Mr Down was working as an apprentice scaffolder on the new Sainsbury's site, in Central Milton Keynes.

They then returned to Mr Cooper-Carroll's parents' house on Spencer, Stantonbury, to drink and listen to music.

During the course of the evening they returned to the shop for more alcohol and, drank at least 15 cans of lager and a small bottle of whisky between them.

They also smoked some cannabis, the inquest heard.

In the early hours of the morning Mr Down fell and cut his head on broken glass on the floor, before the pair, both extremely drunk, passed out.

> From the look of him I thought he was still sleeping. I was frightened and didn't know what to do, I was just stumped. I was expecting him to wake up. Afterwards when I still couldn't wake him I became distressed
> – Dead teenager's friend Elliot Cooper-Carroll

Mr Cooper-Carroll said he woke at around 10am the next morning and was unable to wake Mr Down.

He told his mother who, without entering the room, said he was probably sleeping off the alcohol and to leave him.

It was not until around three hours later, at about 1pm, that Mr Cooper-Carroll asked his mum for help again and she came to his room.

"Sam was sitting slumped against the bed in his clothes," she told the inquest.

"I was certain he was dead, it was his colour.

"He was white and his lips were blue."

Mrs Cooper called the ambulance but paramedics could do nothing and Mr Down was taken to hospital where he was later confirmed dead.

The inquest heard he was likely to have died at around 3am.

Mr Cooper-Carroll said he did not know his friend was dead.

The inquest heard he was sat above where Mr Down was lying, watching a fishing programme on TV. From the look of him I thought he was still sleeping," said Mr Cooper Carroll.

"I was frightened and didn't know what to do, I was just stumped."

"I was expecting him to wake up.

"Afterwards when I still couldn't wake him I became distressed."

A post-mortem found alcohol in Mr Down's blood, as well as morphine and codine showing he had taken heroin in levels high enough to have caused death.

His family said they were shocked to hear he had taken heroin.

Pathologist Dr Ky Lwin said Mr Down died as his breathing stopped due to drug interaction between alcohol, morphine and codine.

Coroner Rodney Corner said: "The one person who certainly knew Sam was very ill from the start was Mr Cooper-Carroll.

"Elliot was not making any effort to make sure his friend got the help he desperately needed.

"I think that is something that he and [his mother] will have to think about for much time to come."

He also issued a warning to other teenagers to see the dangers of binge drinking and mixing drugs.

He added: "I don't think Sam knew for one moment the danger he was putting himself into.

"Unfortunately lessons like this can only be learnt the hard way."

Verdict: accidental death.

Knee deep: Cllr Jamie Tamagnini- Barbosa with resident David Wright and fireman at the flood scene on Sunday

Meeting called to sort out who does what on flooding

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

AN emergency meeting has been called to establish who is responsible for the structures that have led to serious flooding on two city estates.

On Sunday morning Liberal Democrat Cllr Jaime Tamagnini-Barbosa joined residents and firefighters in Wadesmill Lane, Walnut Tree, wading through knee-deep flood waters, trying to clear debris from drains.

It is the third serious flood experienced over the last year and four key authorities will meet in April to thrash out the issue.

Water flows down a culvert under a bridge over Bourton Low but debris and litter blocks a trash screen, causing levels to rise and flood Wadesmill Lane and Caraway Close.

The water is supposed to drain through pipes and main sewers to Caldecotte Lake.

Cllr Tamagnini said: "One of the residents called me and said "it's happening again, help!".

"The residents have had enough.

"The trash screen needs a fundamental redesign and probably the piping too."

MK NEWS has obtained a letter from the Buckingham and River Ouzel Internal Drainage Board (IDB) to English Partnerships (EP) which tells them to 'repair and maintain' the culvert from Caldecotte Brook into the main sewer.

It says: "I require you to put in place, as a matter of urgency, a suitable regime of regular maintenance to ensure unobstructed discharge of the Caldecotte Brook through your asset."

A formal notice ordered EP to maintain the trash screen and the pipes which connect the sewer to Caldecotte Lake.

But EP insisted the land ownership was transferred to Milton Keynes Council in 1993 and asked that the matter be referred to Milton Keynes Council and Milton Keynes Parks Trust.

Solicitors acting on behalf of the drainage board found that neither the council or parks trust have responsibility for the pipes.

They are now awaiting written proof from EP that ownership was transferred to the council.

A spokesman for EP said: "Milton Keynes Partnership is very aware of the issue of localised flooding in the vicinity of the local shops in Wadesmill Lane, where Caldecotte Brook discharges into the public water sewer.

"We are committed to working alongside these organisations to find a solution to this problem."

Couple let dogs starve

A COUPLE from Netherfield have admitted allowing two German Shepherds to starve.

The dogs were found emaciated at the pair's home address by an RSPCA inspector in September, a court has heard.

Months before, in June 2007, John Salussolia and his wife Lesley, both from Farmborough, Netherfield, had been told to take their dogs to the vet by the RSPCA.

However, when inspector Kirsty Hampton visited their address on Friday September 2, she found the dogs in poor condition.

The couple pleaded guilty to several charges of causing unnecessary suffering to the animals at Milton Keynes Magistrates Court last Friday (March 14).

Inspector Hampton's statement, read out in court by RSPCA prosecutor Janita Patel, said she saw one dog, now known as 12-year-old Rini, had the shape of its ribs, haunches and spine visible and her back end was so weak she kept sinking to the floor.

She had also lost hair across her back end, legs and tail and her skin was scabby, the court heard.

A veterinary examination confirmed that Rini was emaciated, arthritic, suffering from muscular atrophy and had tumours in her mammary gland which had been left untreated.

The younger dog, eight-month old Pru, was suffering muscular wastage and had pronounced ribs. Both showed signs of starvation.

They were taken into boarding by the RSPCA, but Rini was later put down.

On Friday, John Salussolia, 41, pleaded guilty to causing unnecessary suffering to a German Shepherd called Rini, by failing to provide her with veterinary care in respect of her weight loss and poor condition.

His wife, Lesley Salussolia, 37, pleaded guilty to the same charge, as well as a second charge of causing suffering to the German Shepherd known as Pru, by not ensuring it received an adequate diet sufficient for its needs.

Their defence lawyer said the couple were going through an emotional separation at the time of the offences, which contributed to the decline of the dogs' health, but were now back together and 'standing shoulder to shoulder' to take on their responsibilities.

The pair will be sentenced in April.

Dons song 'catchy'

SIR – Regarding the MK Dons song by Ian Roberts featured in your paper last week.

I heard this guy being introduced on the radio and thought 'oh dear another failed attempt at a footie song' - until i heard it.

It's proper catchy.

Well done mate!

■ SIR – Just a quick e-mail to say how much I enjoyed the article on local musician and Dons fan Ian Roberts.

It is lovely to see everyone getting behind our wonderful club.

I heard the song on Three Counties Radio and I can assure your readers that this is a football song that we can really be proud of.

Please pass on my congratulations to Mr Roberts and thank him sincerely for writing a non-profit making song purely designed to rouse the fans – a most refreshing change.

Sue's got a bag on

SIR – I read your article 'Litter Lout cabbie's fare was enforcement officer' with great joy.

At last there is someone who is using their brains and the strong arm of the law.

Please could you send your team to Conniburrow, Bramble Avenue in particular, as every day looks like refuse day.

Tuesday is when all refuse is collected , but within hours of the refuse truck leaving – guess what? Pink and back bags appear as if by magic.

The bags then stay there for another week at the mercy of the birds, weather and now we have a rat problem.

Please help, the long-stay residents are fed up with this problem which in turn affects all of us who live here.

Tax bill could be lower

SIR – MK council tax payers are being told by Isobel McCall that she has 'kept the increase as low as possible'.

This is not true.

There was a properly costed lower figure produced by the Conservative group. It was for only 3.5 per cent and involved no service reductions.

The talk of 'every effort' is also wrong. The Conservative efforts showed there is much more that can be saved.

With the huge waste on the school build fiasco it is clear that MK tax payers are badly served at the moment.

The solution is a change on the council to give the Conservatives a chance to prove they can do better.

We did so in the debate this year and readers only have a higher bill than needed because Labour abstained and the Lib Dems cannot stomach any good idea if it happens to come from a Conservative.

I also speculate as to whether it is proper to put such a partisan claim in such a leaflet.

Cllr David Tunney
Conservative finance spokesman

Called to account

SIR – Having visited Mark Lancaster's constituency office in Newport Pagnell, it is entirely separate from his party's office in Bletchley.

Dr Starkey by contrast chooses to locate her constituency office at 'Labour Hall' in New Bradwell, as did former MP Brian White until his defeat in 2005.

Unlike Mark Lancaster, Dr Starkey still refuses to publish her own expenses and now it appears that the Labour Party has also failed to publish its annual accounts.

In the one year that Labour has published recent accounts, alongside an ongoing income for 'rent' (£7,600 – presumably from Dr Starkey) a mysterious new source of income 'admin services' (£6,456) has also appeared, magically filling the income gap caused by the departure of Brian White.

Could it be that Dr Starkey's reluctance to publish her own expenses is because she is channelling even more public money via her Parliamentary expenses into the coffers of 'Labour Hall'?

A simple confirmation or denial will suffice.

Rail users' benefits

SIR – Network Rail is carrying out essential work to improve and modernise the railway through Milton Keynes.

The essential track work will be carried out on Sunday, March 23 between 12.01am until 6.30am and Monday between 7.30am and 7.30pm.

The Milton Keynes element of the West Coast main line is due for completion by the end of December 2008.

These works include

■ 12 car platform lengths on fast and slow trains;

■ A bi-directional loop connected to the slow line

■ Relay a new junction at Bletchley South with 60mph crossovers

■ Enhancement of stone sidings;

■ Reversing facilities at Bletchley; and

■ Concentration of train control functions at Rugby.

After the completion of this project the number of trains from London to Birmingham will be increased to three and there will be direct trains from Bedford to Milton Keynes.

Additional stops in Milton Keynes will be provided for inter city trains. The entire project is going to cost more than £150million.

There is bound to be some disruption to the service in order to improve and modernise the railway in this area.

The part of the present problem dates back to when the previous Conservative government destroyed the integrated railway system (British Rail) by means of privatisation.

After Network Rail took over the private company Railtrack, the Government has spent billions of pounds to replace old tracks and to modernise the signalling systems.

The number of passengers using trains from Milton Keynes and Bletchley to London at peak time has gone up by more than 30 per cent.

The work that is carried out in Bletchley station in the medium-to long-term will bring significant benefits to passengers.

Speed limit adds to danger on grid road

SIR – V7 Saxon Street is more dangerous now that it is speed limited than it was before as not everybody heeds the limit and so confusion is created ('Report turns down grid road crossing' – last week).

There is no reason for anybody to cross the road between the two estates as adequate bridges exist.

If the crossings were underpasses and not bridges it would be a different story as an underpass can be a frightening place.

I am glad that taxpayers' money will not be wasted.

While I have sympathy for Mr Fraser there was no reason for his stepson to be on the road at that point and his campaign is misguided.

Speachless

SIR – Her Majesty the Queen has been criticised for failing to make a speech when opening thestadiummk last November but making a speech to business people and dignatories at the opening of Heathrow Airport's terminal five last Friday.

Alderman Paul Bartlett, who represented Stony Stratford on Milton Keynes Council for 16 years, has e-mailed Her Majesty seeking an explanation and an apology for what he calls a 'post code approach' to where and when she makes a speech.

It really does seem that Her Majesty was poorly advised by her aides when it was decided that she should not talk to the many thousands of children who excitedly came to see her and perform for her at the opening of the stadium.

To then speak to the audience of civic leaders' and business people at Heathrow illustrates a lack of common decency to the common man.

I have sent an e-mail to Her Majesty requesting an explanation and a review of the policy that so discriminated against Milton Keynes.

I am also very concerned that with no speech, anyone with a slight diability wouldhave found it impossible to fully follow the day's event and to see any media coverage on television.

This is discrimination from someone whose title heads the Royal National Instituiton For The Blind and the situation requires an urgent review.

Paul Bartlett

Empire builders

SIR – Shenley Brook End Parish Council wants to increase its share of council tax by more than 10 times inflation (a yearly increase of £9.50 per per band D household).

To quote their newsletter: 'This is an expanding parish and we must take account of a rising population that will make greater demands on our resources'.

But hang on, if more people are moving in, more people pay council tax.

Hardly anyone votes for these empire builders. They might say we're doing this, that and the other, but they ned to get real.

What planet are these people on?

Hospital ward is dirty claims son of OAP patient

Patients has fought six infections while in MK Hospital

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

THE son of a former matron has criticised the standards of cleaning at Milton Keynes Hospital as his mother fights for her life there.

Raj Chaggar claims he has found evidence of dirt around the ward.

Bletchley pensioner, Meena Chaggar, 64, has been a patient in Ward 16 at Milton Keynes Hospital for six weeks after being admitted with pneumonia and developing a life-threatening blood clot.

She is a former matron, nurse and surgical assistant.

Mrs Chaggar, who worked at a Birmingham hospital 25 years ago, raised her concerns to her son.

Mr Chaggar, 30, claimed: "My mum's bed frame has not been cleaned for six weeks and she's had infection after infection since she's been there.

"She used to be a matron and now she has seen things at this hospital that concern her.

"I used a tissue to wipe along six-inches in the space down the side of my mum's bed – it was filthy.

"The wheels on the bed are thick with dirt."

His mother has been given antibiotics to fight six separate infections over the past months.

Mr Chaggar provides care for her when she is at home and has been visiting her on the ward.

He said: "The calibre of the cleaners is about the same as office cleaners.

"The doors are not wiped down, they use static mops and dry wipes.

"They only wipe around things and dust around the patients."

He claims he saw them just pour jugs of water on the floor that did not appear to have any bleach in.

'I just want this hospital clean': Raj Chagger outside MK Hospital

Mr Chaggar alleges that urine stains were left uncleaned for two weeks, cleaners used the same cloth from bed to bed and furniture was not pulled out to clean around it properly.

He fears the worst because he believes that his father died as a result of a dirty hospital 10 years ago.

His father contracted several infections at Oxford Infirmary and died soon after a routine operation.

Mr Chaggar said: "Hospitals haven't changed ten years on.

"Even when my mum goes home I'm going to continue this until the hospital is clean.

"I don't want compensation and I'm not suing – I just want this hospital clean."

A spokesman for the hospital said: "As with all inpatient areas, ward 16 has recently received a deep clean and we're committed to ensuring that thorough cleaning is consistently undertaken.

"Most importantly, all staff receive training in infection prevention and observe good hand washing practice.

"Patient safety is a top priority for the Trust and our Healthcare Associated Infection rates remain very low.

"Cleaning rotas are in place and these are regularly monitored and checked by Domestic Supervisors.

"As wards are busy areas dust does move and settle quickly despite routine cleaning.

"Our clinical and cleaning staff will continue to work in partnership to ensure that the Trust meets the standards expected by our visitors and patients, and to improve cleanlinesss.

"Thorough attention to ward hygiene and removal of dust is essential and the appointment of a dedicated regular domestic is helping to ensure that this is carried out to the highest standard possible."

She said that all in-patient areas are cleaned with microfibre cloths, warm water, detergent and chlorine solutions, and disposable curtains are used.

MP promotes nail bar Bill

A CITY MP is a step closer to getting new laws introduced to tighten controls on nail bars.

In November 2007 MK NEWS reported that Dr Phyllis Starkey, MP for Milton Keynes South West, had raised the issue of dangerous nail bars in Parliament.

She called for proper regulation of the industry and for a ban of a chemical widely used to attach false nails.

The chemical, methyl methacrylate (MMA), was originally used as a glue in cosmetic surgery but is now used in many down-market nail salons.

In December 2007 she asked the clerks department at the House of Commons to draft a short piece of legislation to amend current laws.

Yesterday (Tuesday, March 18) she tabled a Bill in Parliament to make provision for the licensing of nail bars and premises where tattooing, piercing and other prescribed treatments are carried out.

She hopes the Bill will lead to improvements in the standards and service of nail bars.

The chemical MMA, which is banned in the US, is used because it is cheap and strong.

Many nail technicians are not properly qualified to use it.

It has a very strong odour and can be a respiratory sensitiser triggering an allergic reaction, serious skin reactions, and permanent nail damage – or nail loss.

Dr Starkey said: "Simply improving public awareness will not stop the continued growth of these non-standard nail bars which risk destroying the credibility of the whole sector as well as undercutting those who are trying to provide a high quality service.

"A proper licensing regime would protect customers and would drive up standards and reward those businesses investing in training. It would mean people could use nail bars and be confident they would suffer no ill-effects."

Dr Starkey's bill will be given a second reading on April 25.

Phew! What a relief

THOUSANDS of charity runners took to the streets of Milton Keynes despite the poor weather on Sunday to take part in the Sports Relief Miles as our pictures show, Milton Keynes had been picked as one of 23 regional centres to host the national event.

Runners raced along Midsummer Boulevard, Witan Gate and Silbury Boulevard in races of one, three and six miles.

Radio star quizzed by pupils about World Vision's 24-hour famine

RADIO 1 star Fearne Cotton has met up with pupils from Oakgrove School to talk about famine.

World Vision's 24-hour famine campaign was launched on Friday and official ambassador Fearne was on hand to talk to students about why she was involved and her experiences in Chennai, India.

She said: "I am really excited to be fronting this year's campaign. I've been sponsoring a child through World Vision for the last few years and know what an important and vital job they do."

New council boss starts 'repair' job

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

HEADTEACHERS from every secondary school in Milton Keynes will meet with the new acting chief executive of the council as she attempts to repair the damage caused by the schools build fiasco.

John Best resigned from his role as chief executive last Tuesday following a scathing independent review of the schools build programme.

Kate Page was made interim chief executive and yesterday told MK NEWS that she will visit the headteachers of every secondary school at the end of the month, alongside Sandra Clark, cabinet member for children's services.

Mrs Page said: "We need to restore the confidence of headteachers in what the council does.

"Some of the trust that has been lost has been with the schools and I feel very strongly about that.

"It's one of the areas I need to concentrate on."

John Best had been heavily criticised in the independent review which was commissioned by council leader Cllr Isobel McCall.

It described examples where he was seen to have been 'less than engaged with the schools build programme' and that issues were 'brushed aside'.

Major weaknesses were spotted in the programme and last year Giles Brook School in Tattenhoe was forced to close after the ceiling threatened to cave in.

Mrs Page was handed a six-month interim role in what she described as a 'whirlwind' appointment but yesterday revealed that she had no plans to apply for the job on a permanent basis.

She said: "The emotions last week were a mixture of a daunting task and real excitement.

Interim chief: Kate Page

"I don't anticipate taking the job permanently at this stage of my career where I'm thinking about retirement.

"The chief executive of any council is a very challenging role, particularly in Milton Keynes because we have so many things going on here.

"The place and the population is growing and we've got the spotlight on us for the services we provide.

"Restoring the public's confidence can only be done in terms of their experience of the council.

"I'm very passionate about improving services to our customers, including housing, social care and education.

"It's very comforting to know you have the support of colleagues and partners as you are starting off on a job like this."

MKNEWS BRIEFS

MK NEWS in the news
MK NEWS has been shortlisted for a prestigious newspaper award.

It has been named in the Weekly Newspaper of the Year category at the 2008 Newspaper Awards.

The winners will be announced at a gala dinner on Tuesday, April 22 at the London Hilton, Park Lane.

Youth faces rape charge
A 16-YEAR-OLD has appeared in court charged with the attempted rape of a young girl.

The teenage boy, who cannot be identified for legal reasons, allegedly tried to rape a girl under the age of 13 in Milton Keynes on February 22.

He is also charged with one count of robbery on the same date.

The youth appeared at Milton Keynes Youth Court last Tuesday and the case was committed to Aylesbury Crown Court.

School praised
A SCHOOL has been praised for helping students understand about mortgages, pensions and bank accounts.

Shenley Brook End School in Milton Keynes has been highlighted for its good practice in a new report by Ofsted. The school is one of 18 secondary schools surveyed on personal finance education

Headteacher Glen Martin said: "We believe in trying to prepare young people for the future through a sensible mix of academic qualifications and learning practical life skills."

OAP on sex charges
A PENSIONER has appeared in court charged with sexually abusing young children.

Edward Ernest Ollard, of Shipton Hill, Bradville, appeared at MK Magistrates' Court last Monday charged with indecently assaulting two boys under 14 and touching a girl under 13 sexually.

The offences allegedly took place over a 30-year period.

The case will go to Aylesbury Crown Court in April and Mr Ollard was released on unconditional bail.

Cup final date
MK NEWS-sponsored Milton Keynes College beat SEEVIC College 2-0 in the semi-final of the SESSA Challenge Cup to set up a final clash against Brunel University. The final will be played at the Ford Sports ground in Romford on April 24.

Parish and town councils oppose new homes build

BY LAURA HANNAM

An artist's impression of general housing at the proposed A421 Green Lane development

WAVENDON residents have spoken out against plans to build hundreds of houses near the village.

As reported in MK NEWS last August, Milton Keynes Partnership (MKP), as local planning authority, received three planning applications to build thousands of homes near the village.

These include proposals for up to 1,600 homes on land at Glebe Farm, including two segments north of Wavendon, one south of the A421 and another south of the A5130 Newport Road; 840 homes on land at Eagle Farm, stretching west of the M1 above junction 13 to Lower End Road; and 850 homes on Wavendon Golf Course, south of the A421.

The three applications were due to be discussed by MKP's planning sub committee last night (Tuesday, March 17).

Wavendon Parish Council, Woburn Sands Town Council, Hulcote and Salford Parish Council and Aspley Guise Parish Council have all joined forces against the proposals.

They claim the Glebe Farm and Eagle Farm applications are premature as the sites are designated strategic reserve and should not be coming forward for possible development until 2011 at the earliest.

Chairman of Wavendon Parish Council, David Hopkins, was due to speak against the applications last night.

"There is no Milton Keynes Council structure plan for any of these, indeed there is no intention for there to be such a plan for a number of years to come," he was set to say.

"No consideration has been made for infrastructure, education planning, community planning and cohesion, roads infrastructure - in particular the already inadequate A421 onto which each site would seek access - and much more."

Additional objections are the density of housing and that Wavendon golf course is designated open countryside and a valuable and much used leisure resource.

The Glebe Farm and Eagle Farm applicants, partners Gallagher and Taylor Woodrow, say their reasons for submitting applications early are twofold.

"Firstly the lead-in times associated with developing sites of this scale are significant often taking upwards of five years," the developers state.

"Secondly, Gallagher and Taylor Woodrow are attempting to ensure that these applications are ready for determination as and when Milton Keynes Council and Milton Keynes Partnership feel ready and able to release these sites for development."

■ At the same meeting, MKP's planning sub-committee were due to decide whether plans to build the first phase of modern new housing south of Kingsmead would be given the go-ahead.

Shenley Brook End and Tattenhoe Parish Council objected to the detailed application for the first stage of the development as the planned housing is 'inappropriate'.

Residents claim the 'space-age' designs are unsympathetic with the existing buildings.

Outline planning permission for a total of 460 dwellings was granted to Lagan Homes by Milton Keynes Partnership in 2006.

Winds blow biker into parked lorry

A MOTORCYCLIST suffered life-threatening injuries after strong winds blew him off the road.

The 24-year-old biker, from Crownhill, was involved in a crash on the A5 southbound, Stony Stratford, at around 4pm last Wednesday.

Two bikers were travelling in convoy southbound from Old Stratford when the one riding behind was caught by a gust as he crossed the bridge over the River Ouse.

The section of road was exposed to the wind and the force blew the biker from the outside lane to the inside lane and into a lay-by, where he hit the trailer of a stationary white lorry.

The blue Yamaha bike bounced back across the road into the central reservation.

Emergency services were called and the biker was taken to Milton Keynes Hospital, where his condition was described as critical.

He remained in a serious but stable condition yesterday.

The other biker and the lorry driver were not injured.

The northbound section did not reopen until 8.50pm and the southbound opened at 9.45pm, after investigations took place and the debris was cleared.

Motorists were advised to avoid the route as traffic backed up across the area.

Anyone who witnessed the collision can contact PC Justin Harris or Sergeant Fraser Chamberlain on 08458 505505.

Work starts on new city academy school

WORK has officially started on the city's new academy.

The £27m academy at Leadenhall is being built on the current playing fields at Sir Frank Markham Community School.

The old school will close and be replaced by the new school, which is due to open in September 2009.

A special turf-cutting ceremony was held on Monday to mark the occasion.

Guests included Government officials, MP Phyllis Starkey and Mayor Mike Barry, as well as local pupils and representatives from the developers Marriott Construction, the operating division of Kier Regional Ltd.

The state-of-the-art academy's facilities will include a high-tech Enterprise Hub.

The building will also feature an outdoor performance arena and gardens, cricket and football pitches, an athletics track and an all-weather sports facility.

The academy which will house 1,500 pupils is sponsored by Edge, an educational charity.

A mix of GCSEs, A-levels and vocational courses will be available with a focus on bringing practical and vocational learning into the curriculum.

Spokesman Lorn Caldicott said: "The academy will be offering something very different. Practical and vocational learning will help young people succeed in careers or further or higher education. We want students to get the qualifications and skills they need to get a good job. Parents and pupils will be proud to be part of the academy."

At the heart of the new academy will be a central core which will have four large learning blocks extending from it, one for dance, drama and film, a second for science, a third for food and technology and a fourth for art and graphics.

On the first floor the core will be used as a learning resources centre and will also house classrooms and a PE hall, while the second floor will provide further classrooms, seminar space, plus a sixth-form social/study zone and the Enterprise Hub.

Caring for all creatures – great and

After 50 years, Willow Veterinary Practice, in Newport Pagnell, is still providing day-to-day and emergency care to pets across Milton Keynes. MK NEWS reporter Laura Hannam went along to see how the practice works and how the service has changed over the years.

Senior vet Robert Johnstone with vet nurse Bethan Pry prepare Honey for her operation

SNIP the spaniel had the spring taken out of her step as she was taken to the vets.

At just over a year old, the springer spaniel was brought in first thing in the morning to be spayed, one of the most routine procedures carried out at the Willen Road practice.

Snip started the day at 8.30am when the veterinary nurses began preparing her for the operation.

At 11.30am it is her turn and she is brought to the pre-op room, where she is given sedatives and pain killers, before senior vet Rob Johnstone can put a tube down her throat.

Already the amount of modern technology used by the vets is apparent, as the tube is attached to a machine which supplies the dog with all the oxygen she needs, along with an anaesthetic.

Her stomach was shaved where the surgeon would need to operate and the area disinfected several times.

She was then moved to the operating theatre, where she was attached to another machine - a Pulse Oximeter - which monitors her heart rate and oxygen levels.

More old-fashioned methods are used alongside modern technology, as the veterinary nurse double checks the heart rate by feeling the dogs pulse under its leg and, watches Snip to make sure she is comfortably under the anaesthetic.

During the operation, which lasted around 15 minutes, the dog's ovaries and cervix were tied off and then removed.

Afterwards, the vet had to put in three layers of stitching to sew together the muscle, fat and skin layers.

Once Snip was awake and placed safely in a kennel to recover, it was Honey the Sharpei's turn to get ready.

The adorable four-month-old puppy was literally born with too much skin and this was causing problems.

Mr Johnstone, who has an interest in pets' eye problems, explained: "She will eventually grow into her skin but at the moment it goes into her eyes and, when she lowers her head she can't see at all.

"So we are going to put some temporary tacks in to keep the skin back."

"It is a common problem with this breed."

Like Snip, Honey was given sedatives and prepared for surgery.

Using a device strapped to his head, called a magnifying loupe, Mr Johnstone then put nylon stitches above Honey's eyes, which he hopes will last up to a month before they must be removed.

By then her head will have grown and she should be able to see well on her own.

After surgery both dogs, though shaky on their feet at first, were standing within an hour.

During the morning, when most of the practice's surgical operations are carried out, two dogs were also castrated and Quaffle the cat had an infected wound on his upper leg - likely to have been caused by a fight - stitched up.

The practice - which also has a branch in Olney - treats common household pets and the occasional exotic animal such as snakes and chipmunks.

The most common ailments they deal with are arthritis, skin conditions, vomiting and diarrhoea, dental problems, heart conditions and increasingly problems caused by obesity.

"Overweight dogs and cats are very common," said Mr Johnstone, who has been a vet for 28 years.

"It is increasing and I think this is probably related to affluence - people are feeding their animals more, they are not just feeding them scraps like say 30 years ago."

"It is amazing how little we need to eat and how little animals need to eat, so owners may look at a little bowl and think that can't possibly be enough, but it is."

Mr Johnstone has owned the veterinary surgery with his wife Joe, who is also a senior vet, for around 17 years.

He said the practice has changed dramatically during that time and, since a surgery was first opened on the site 50 years ago before Milton Keynes was built.

"When I first came here there was one person doing small animal work and we had two or three people doing farm work," he said.

"Now we don't do any farm work at all, so the whole bias has changed as Milton Keynes has changed out of all recognition and agriculture took a dive."

He added that the changing social environment across the country has meant less people own pets and veterinary practices have had to become more competitive.

"Its a shrinking market as people are busier and want less ties so they can go on holiday much more easily and so on," he said.

"The change has been towards more cats than dogs and also a lot of people have rabbits now as they are less work small

and can live in the house."

"The dip is affecting practices, it is much more competitive than it used to be," he added.

"I suppose we are relatively lucky as we are still in an area which is growing, but certainly things have slowed down quite dramatically.

"The practice is still expanding to a certain extent but certainly not at the rate it was 10 years ago, and we are having to put more effort into it."

But not all change has been negative, as innovative new technology has allowed the practice to provide increasingly good services, such as offering some chemotherapy on site.

"Now we have got x-rays, ultrasound, all my eye kit, endoscopes, all the monitoring equipment - it has really moved on," said Mr Johnstone.

"There are huge advantages, but it can also complicate things a little bit as you can sometimes rely too much on technology rather than instinct.

"For example that little spaniel (Spin) wasn't totally stable under the anaesthetic and, if you had just looked at the Pulse Oximeter we would have thought she's doing absolutely fine. There are other things we were looking out for while we were operating. It is important to use manual checks to complement the technology."

And not everything has changed as the rewarding, friendly atmosphere of the practice seems as though it could be the same as that found on the site 50 years ago.

"Without exception everyone who works here enjoys working with people and animals," added Mr Johnstone. "Its almost like a family firm in a way because we all get on very well."

Children

need men too!

Men in Childcare (MIC) looking for careers

Milton Keynes Early Years Childcare Service, in association with Milton Keynes College and Men in Childcare Scotland, are celebrating the first Level 2 awards for completion of the successful Men In Childcare programme.

The Awards ceremony on 20th March 2008 at 5.30pm, Milton Keynes College, marks the completion of the first successful programme to run in England and is designed specifically to attract more men into childcare careers. First run in Scotland, it has now been modelled in other European countries, such as Poland, Germany, Belgium, Norway, Denmark, Ireland, Hungary and now Milton Keynes.

This celebration at the College offers an ideal opportunity to extend our congratulations to students and for employers from Early Years Childcare settings currently recruiting to meet with students and staff.

Settings are welcome to come along from 5.30. This is an ideal time to recruit staff as they are now poised to enter employment in early years childcare. Students will come equipped with CV's and personal portfolio's.

"We have a real gap in our workforce in terms of gender - there just simply aren't enough men working or even interested in a career in childcare, so we are delighted to be the first Local Authority to successfully run this project; we never dreamt it would be this popular. We are now into our third cohort." Jacqui McGrath, Childcare Manager, Early Years.

The programme is taught by Milton Keynes College and funded by the Early Years Childcare service and runs for one evening's study per week. On completion of the induction the students have the opportunity to gain a Level 2 award, and can then go onto higher qualifications that meet their professional chosen careers in children's services.

Illegal immigrants driving city taxis

Three arrested in joint operation

THREE immigrants were found to be working illegally as licensed taxi drivers after immigration and Milton Keynes Council officers carried out a joint operation.

Officers from the Border and Immigration Agency (BIA) acted on intelligence and arrested three Pakistani male nationals at Synergy Park on Chesney Wold, Bleak Hall, on Tuesday.

None of the illegal immigrants had permission to work in the UK. Steps are now being taken by the BIA to return them to Pakistan as soon as possible.

Gail Adams, BIA regional director, said: "The agency is determined to put a stop to illegal working in Buckinghamshire. We have teams visiting businesses across the county to make sure they are not breaking the law.

"Anyone found to be working illegally should know that we will seek to remove them from the country.

"Our message to employers who do not take this issue seriously is simple – if you employ illegal workers you could be named and shamed and face criminal charges."

Employers unsure of the steps they need to take to avoid employing illegal workers can visit www.bia.homeoffice.gov.uk/employingmigrants or they can call the BIA employers helpline on 0845 010 6677.

Anyone who suspects that illegal workers are being employed at a business should contact Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111 where anonymity can be assured.

The council will now carry out a full review of all licensed taxi and private hire drivers to ensure that no further fraudulent applications have been made.

A council taxi licensing enforcement spokesman said: "Obviously we will continue to work closely with other agencies to ensure that the public can have faith in our systems.

"Drivers should be aware that these types of checks are ongoing and if any attempt is made to deceive the council then it will be identified."

No answer to MP's school funding question

CITY MP Mark Lancaster has accused the Government of complacency over the ongoing uncertainty regarding school funding.

It follows an exchange between Mr Lancaster and Schools Minister Jim Knight during question time in the House of Commons on Monday.

Mr Lancaster said: "The Minister is keen to trumpet the cash for Milton Keynes but less keen to confirm that there is now a £50million shortfall in funding for Milton Keynes, confirmed to me by the Secretary of State in a letter on February 4. That means that, at a time when the Government are forcing new houses on Milton Keynes, they seem less keen to fund the 10 or 12 new schools that we desperately need to accommodate that new housing. What exactly will the shortfall be for Milton Keynes over the next three years?"

The minister refused to say how this shortfall would be addressed.

The MP for North East Milton Keynes said afterwards: "I'm staggered at just how complacent the Government seem to be over the major school funding crisis facing Milton Keynes. They are only too happy to force housing on the city but are point blank refusing to fund the new schools that we desperately need to accommodate an ever growing population."

An artist's impression of new coachway at M1 Junction 14

Coachway moved to temporary site

THE Coachway has moved from its Junction 14 location while a new state-of-the-art station is built in its place.

Passengers will now use a site at Campbell Park until the new passenger terminal is open in early 2009.

Long distance coach services currently calling at Junction 14 will move to the temporary location between Montrose Street and Pilgrim Street, off Silbury Boulevard in Campbell Park, where facilities will include a waiting room, ticket office, toilets, 80 adjacent parking spaces and a caffE. The site will be well lit, have CCTV and 24-hour on-site security.

Services will operate from this location 24 hours a day. This includes all National Express services to London, Heathrow, Gatwick, Stansted, Birmingham and many other locations as well as the MK1 commuter service to London City and Canary Wharf.

In the meantime, the ground is being prepared for the new passenger terminal building to be built on the new Park & Ride site adjacent to Junction 14 of the M1.

Witnesses sought after nightclub attack

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after two 18-year-old men were assaulted at Mood nightclub on Saturday, March 1.

Between 11.30pm and midnight both victims were near to the DJ booth upstairs, when they were assaulted by two men. One was treated for facial injuries at hospital.

PC Heather Denton said: "There were lots of people in the club – someone must have seen something."

The offenders are in their early 20s; one is white the other Asian.

PC Denton can be contacted on 08458 505505.

Employers are shown what employment training is open to the prisoners at Woodhill

Bosses go to jail

Employers visit promotes ex-prisoners as potential employees

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

MORE THAN 30 employers were shown the training provided to inmates during a visit to Woodhill prison last week.

The business leaders from across Milton Keynes visited the jail on March 11 to see how their own vacancies could be filled with skilled people coming back into the community.

The national charity Business in the Community (BITC) worked alongside the prison to engage employers on a new project aimed at improving the chances of ex-offenders finding employment and thus reducing re-offending rates. As part of the scheme businesses can get involved in training prisoners to give them the skills needed for their industry, with successful inmates being offered a job on release.

An example of such a project is the waste recycling workshop, featured in MK NEWS in October 2007, where prisoners gain work experience by sorting rubbish from across the establishment ready for recycling.

The project has been set up in partnership with Cory Environmental Waste Management, who collect and process the waste after it has been sorted.

After the business's visit, Alun Jones, head of resettlement at the prison said: "This has been a great opportunity to explore how employers could help our prisoners and their businesses.

"Some employers may not have jobs to give, but could offer interview or CV-writing practice for example. HMP Woodhill is proud of the training and qualifications it offers and we hope that more businesses will be able to benefit from the excellent work that goes on here"

The employers met prisoners, saw the jail's suite of computers, the classrooms in the education department, the recycling workshop, landscaping and horticulture – a project being carried out in association with Milton Keynes Parks Trust – and the cleaning and catering operations.

Mike Brophy, of Business in the Community said "Re-offending is a complex issue but it can benefit hugely from co-ordinated collaboration from employers to create a safer more productive society.

"The benefits are proven not only can it reduce re-offending but it also helps to fill skills gaps for business and offers a chance for offenders to reintegrate into society.

"I urge local employers to consider what opportunities and benefits exist for their business and then to engage with us on this important agenda."

■ For more information, please contact Mike Brophy on 01638 663272.

Dispersal order zone to curb kids on city estate

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

TROUBLEMAKERS will be banned from areas of Eaglestone as police enforce the latest dispersal order.

Poor behaviour from local children is the main reason for the latest step by police to restore order on the estate.

People of any age who are acting anti-socially within the dispersal order zone will be ordered to leave by police.

Milton Keynes Council (MKC) and Milton Keynes Police obtained the order last week under the Antisocial Behaviour Act 2003.

Neighbourhood Inspector Robin Vitiello said: "The decision to implement the dispersal order has not been taken lightly.

"It is regrettable that the behaviour a minority has caused such measures to be taken, but the people of Eaglestone deserve to enjoy quality of life.

"Extra resources will be used to enforce the order.

"We know that the majority of offenders are local children and I urge parents to play their part in bringing order back to the streets; know where your children are and what they are doing, be extra vigilant and double check they are actually going where they say they are going."

The order goes live on Tuesday, April 1 and will last until the end of September.

The boundary of the zone will be V7 Saxon Street, V8 Marlborough Street, H7 Chaffron Way and H8 Standing Way.

It gives police officers and police community support officers the following powers in the zone:

■ Tell people of any age in the group to disperse
■ Tell people of any age who do not live in the area to leave
■ Tell people of any age who do not live in the area not to return to the area for up to 24 hours.
■ Anyone under 16 who is in the area between 9pm and 6am can be removed and taken home.

Chris Gill from the antisocial behaviour team at MKC said: "The order has been brought in after evidence has been gathered from the community and local businesses.

"It will enable us to target those individuals who cause problems within the community and using the legislation will allow us to deal with them robustly."

MK Council and businesses join forces in big spring clean-up

PARTS of the city centre got a spring clean this week.

On Wednesday businesses and the local authority combined efforts to give Midsummer Boulevard East (The Point side of Midsummer Place) a special spruce up.

The plan came about when members of the Central Milton Keynes Partnership (CMKP) went on one of their walk-abouts to look at work required to upgrade the area.

As Midsummer Boulevard has many different areas of responsibility and ownership, the spring clean saw staff from Milton Keynes Council, the CMKP members – thecentre:mk and Midsummer Place shopping centres, and the CMK market all working together.

Milton Keynes Council co-ordinated existing work programmes with those of the CMKP members' organisations to address a long list of works including -pavement and kerb cleaning and repairs, shrub and tree maintenance, litter and graffiti removal, street lighting repairs, street furniture painting, new road markings and new gravel on the boulevard reservations to get the maximum benefit from existing resources.

Work started early on Wednesday morning and continued throughout the day but due to the high winds - up to 50mph on the day and the large area to be covered (Midsummer Boulevard is as wide as the M1 at its widest points between buildings) not all of the work could be carried out despite the 60-strong workforce and so will continue over the next few weeks until completed.

Chars! Workers enjoy a tea break during the Midsummer Boulevard East spring clean-up

Kay Greenhalgh, city centre manager said: "It's wonderful to see people taking action together and working towards a clean and safe city centre. I hope this is just the first of many throughout Central Milton Keynes. This goes beyond individual boundaries and involves people working together towards the same goal, taking pride in our city centre. "

The CMKP is the independent members organisation of key stakeholders including the Council, shopping centres, Milton Keynes Partnership, English Partnerships, Xscape and Theatre District, Theatre and Gallery, voluntary and community organisations, Thames Valley Police and so on, working together to make the city centre a welcoming, safe and enjoyable place.

Robert Goodman, centre director for thecentre:mk said: "We are tremendously proud of our city and it's essential that we make a concerted effort to work together to present it in its best light to people who work in, live in or visit MK."

Work started early in the morning and continued throughout the day.

Martin Small, streetcare localities manager for Milton Keynes Council explains "Not only were the shrubs pruned as part of the usual programme but litter deep in the beds was cleared, any algae jet-washed from the granite plinths, and any redundant signs and posts removed"

The CMK Partners mobilised up to 60 staff and all their equipment to carry out sweeping, cleaning, gum and sticker removal and painting. The day was also an opportunity to share expertise – if there was a paving problem beyond the council's adopted footpath, the council Highways staff were on hand to advise. Marks and Spencer and Ponti's also added their support by supplying the workers on the day with refreshments.

Shrubs have been cut back along the undersides of Secklow Gate near the outdoor market as they are key areas for rubbish and rodents and are easy targets for graffiti.

Local Police Community Support Officers were concerned that the landscaping provided a screen for crime.

BROADBAND is becoming an increasingly important utility and experiencing a problem service is no longer acceptable.

With complaints about internet service providers and broadband speeds on the rise, Connect MK and FREEDOM4 have teamed up to offer residents and businesses of Milton Keynes advice on broadband issues.

The two organisations will be at Midsummer Place shopping centre on March 26 to answer all your broadband-related questions, and provide information about WiMAX in the area and how it could be the answer to your internet problems.

If you can't wait until March 26, Connect MK and FREEDOM4 have come up with some quick tips to help you get the most from your broadband.

1. Read the small print – make sure you check out the small print and terms and conditions before you sign up to a broadband package. Some internet service providers (ISPs) may impose limitations on your service that are not made obvious in their sales information.

2. Don't expect the advertised speeds – broadband providers advertise packages with the highest possible speeds and use phrases like 'up to'. There are several factors that can affect the speed of connection you are able to get, so just because you signed up to an 8Mb package, doesn't mean you will get it.

3. Know the alternatives – don't think that you are limited to a fixed-line broadband service. New technologies are constantly evolving, so keeping up to date with new services can mean you get a better deal. With high-speed WiMAX now available in Milton Keynes, you can benefit from a flexible internet connection that is easy to install, and you don't even need a BT line. WiMAX provides a viable alternative to fixed ADSL broadband, so you get a flexible connection without the problems associated with broadband packages.

■ For further information on how you can improve your broadband or to sign up for WiMAX, visit Connect MK and FREEDOM4 at Midsummer Place or visit www.conneckmk.net or www.freedom4.com

HOW TO ENTER

For your chance to win a high-powered Samsung laptop courtesy of FREEDOM4 and Connect MK, just tell us where you can meet the two companies to find out more about WiMAX broadband?

The prize comes with the latest in operating software, Windows Vista Home Premium edition is pre-installed, along with widescreen display and wireless networking capabilities, the perfect prize for internet on the move. Send your entries complete with name, address and daytime telephone number to competitions@mk-news.co.uk

The first correct answer drawn out of the hat wins. Closing date is March 30. Editor's decision is final.

Bid to be cycling city

FORGET the city of the car – Milton Keynes wants to be the city of the bicycle.

Milton Keynes Council is planning to submit a bid to Cycling England to be crowned a 'cycling town'.

If successful, the council could receive £3-£4 million extra funding over the coming three years.

The city already prides itself on its extensive cycling network that traverses the city but more money would mean cycling schemes could be extended to other areas not already covered.

Cycling England has launched a competition to find the country's first cycling city and ten new cycling towns.

Cities and towns keen to revolutionise cycling in their areas have been invited by Phillip Darnton, chairman of Cycling England to come forward with bids for a share of the £47 million funding being made available which forms £140m funding for cycling announced by Transport Secretary Ruth Kelly in January.

The 11 new towns and city will join the existing six cycling demonstration towns, which have pioneered local initiatives such as redesigning and building new cycle routes and training people to cycle safety.

The deadline for applications is the end of the month with the winners being announced in June.

Existing towns involved in the project include Aylesbury, Brighton & Hove, Darlington, Derby, Exeter and Lancaster with Morecambe.

Neves SOLICITORS

How can you ensure your property goes to your children when you die?

Your complete legal solution:

- ✓ Wills, Trusts, Estates & Inheritance Tax Planning
- ✓ Elderly Client Issues
- ✓ Buying and Selling Houses & Commercial Property
- ✓ Divorce & Family Law
- ✓ Notaries Public
- ✓ Employment Law
- ✓ Commercial Law & Litigation
- ✓ Property/ Tenancy Disputes

There are more risks than Inheritance Tax to your estate. Consider nursing home fees which can eat up almost everything you have worked for. Also consider what happens if your spouse remarries and makes a will in favour of the new spouse?

Considering the risks of what could happen when you die could potentially save your children many thousands of pounds.

To migitate these risks you should make a properly drafted will and consider changing the way the home is owned from Joint Tenants to Tenants in Common.

Sunshine trip on offer for kart race winners

DAYTONA Milton Keynes has announced a series of four Daytona 500KM races with the winners will jet off to the Caribbean!

The four races are on the following Sundays throughout 2008; March 30, May 25, July 27 and September 28.

The races will consist of 500km (approx 7-9hrs depending on the weather) of fast paced team action with up to four drivers using one kart on the International circuit. Even if you miss the first race you can still win as it's the best points scores over three events that count.

Daytona's general manager, Mike Scudamore said: "This is the best prize we've ever offered for winners of a Daytona event; a week for four including flights and accommodation in the Caribbean.

"Even the second and third place prizes are hot; four 'Hamilton's Easy Journey' sat navs; and four VIP tickets to F1 testing at Silverstone."

The cost of racing is £550 per team per race which includes full hire of racing suits, gloves and helmets.

Teams wishing to experience the challenge of the Daytona 500 and possibly win a trip to the Caribbean can book by calling 0845 6445503 or visiting www.daytona.co.uk

A saving of £200 is available to teams that book and pay for all four rounds in advance.

‘Turbo Tod’ to play a ‘home town’ gig

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A BIG name DJ is to play his first ever home town gig in Milton Keynes on Friday.

Tod Hodge, originally from Stantonbury, regularly headlines venues such as London’s Ministry of Sound as one half of dance act Stupid Fresh.

They will be arriving in Milton Keynes on Friday (March 21) to play at the monthly Beatcheck night, at Revolution Bar, Xscape.

Tod, also known as Turbo Tod, has never graced the decks in Milton Keynes despite being born in the city and living here for twenty years.

Now living in Leeds, he said he is excited to be returning to play in the city.

“I’ve got a lot of love for Milton Keynes, my parents still live here so I visit from time to time,” he said.

“I’m chuffed to have a gig, it’s like some sort of weird homecoming and I can’t wait to show all my old pals how I rock a party.”

He is also looking forward to playing at Beatcheck, the city’s underground dance music night which has been running for nearly two years.

“There hasn’t really been a dance music scene in Milton Keynes since the days of Ultra Vegas,” he added.

Turbo Tod, left, will play Revolution as part of Stupid Fresh

“I’ve heard some great things about Beatcheck and that it’s going from strength to strength so I’m really excited about playing.”

Tod met fellow Stupid Fresh DJ Chris Elliot at a music competition in Leeds a number of years ago and they have been playing together ever since. Their music has been described as “tech house”.

They will be playing at Beatcheck alongside the Aut0b0ts, a duo of break beat DJs/Producers who have established themselves on a worldwide stage with their tearing baselines and funky breaks.

And they will be supported by Beatcheck residents Anya with MC Special A, Nicky G, and Andy Black Swag Man who will all be providing beats, breaks and underground dance music until the wee small hours of the morning.

The Mansion House at Bletchley Park

Holocaust denier Irving a guest at code-crack talk

HISTORIANS gathered to discuss whether Second World War code-breakers knew of the holocaust included one who has been accused of denying there was a holocaust.

Among the guests at a Bletchley Park lecture given by author and journalist Michael Smith on Thursday night was David Irving.

Mr Irving first came to prominence as the historian who wrote a book on the destruction of Dresden He wrote many more books and was the first historian to challenge the authenticity of the 'Hitler Diaries'.

His fame turned to notoriety as he challenged the facts of the holocaust and displayed sympathy for Hitler and the Nazis.

In a book called Hitler's War, he said Hitler had never ordered the mass extermination of Jews and as was unaware of it until late 1943.

In 2005 he was jailed in Austria after pleading guilty to the charge that he had said the Holocaust never took place but said he had no other course of action and has always denied he is a holocaust denier.

On Thursday Mr Smith, who among other books, has written Station X - The Codebreakers of

David Irving: Jailed in Austria

Bletchley Park, asked if the code-breakers ignored mass murder.

Mr Smith pointed out the code-breakers were aware that the German army was systematically killing Jewish people and that Churchill was kept informed.

Winston Churchill described this activity on radio as a 'crime without a name'.

Information from Chicksands Priory passed on to Bletchley Park showed there were camps but it was less clear whether the code-breakers or MI6 knew that some of these camps were extermination camps. There were records of the gas, Zyklon B being delivered but this was mainly used as a pesticide, so its real purpose was not realised.

One crucial piece of evidence discussed was the Hofle telegram. This lists the number of people at four concentration camps: Lublin, Belzec, Sobibor and Treblinka.

The telegram was sent by SS Commandant Hofle to Adolf Eichmann.

Mr Smith said the numbers referred to arrivals at the camps.

After the talk Mr Irving questioned this and said he believed it referred to the number of people who had been 'processed'. Mr Irving also said some had questioned the reliability of the telegram but both agreed on its authenticity.

After the meeting, the reporter asked Mr Irving about his views on the document and the holocaust.

Mr Irving said he has to be careful what he says as free speech is under threat and he was nearly jailed for 20 years in Austria.

Michael Smith said: "In some ways Mr Irving's view of the meaning of the telegram is harsher than mine."

BMX boy could hold robbery clues

A CYCLIST who witnessed a 14-year-old being attacked and robbed could hold vital clues according to police.

The boy was riding home on his BMX when he stopped to tie his shoe laces in the V6 underpass, by Wolverton train station.

He was attacked by a man who assaulted him before searching his pockets and bags.

The offender was scared away by a passing cyclist who helped the boy up and cycled with him until he was safe.

The incident occurred at 5.30pm on Friday, February 29.

Detectives are keen for the cyclist to come forward as his information may prove vital to police enquiries.

He is a white man aged about 25-years-old, 5ft 9ins, medium build and was wearing a dark woolly hat.

He was riding a silver mountain bike with lights on the front and back.

Detective Constable Chris Montgomery said: "I'm appealing for the man who came to the boys help to come forward as I believe he will be able to help the investigation.

"I am also appealing for any other witnesses to the incident or anyone who may have information to come forward as they may also be able to help with the investigation."

The offender is a white man aged between 19 and 20-years-old, 5ft 9ins and slim.

He has dark bushy hair and was wearing a black hooded-top and black jogging bottoms.

Contact Det Con Montgomery on 08458 505505.

Police in hunt for 'water board' pair

80-year-olds are targeted by burglars in their Crownhill home

THIS is the face of a man police want to talk to in connection with a distraction burglary.

Two burglars told an elderly couple they were from 'the water board' and asked them to turn off their water supply, at a home in Crownhill.

Both the 81 and 82-year-old residents went into the kitchen with one of the offenders, while the other man sneaked into a bedroom.

Luckily the couple's daughter arrived and the men left without taking anything.

The incident occurred at around 4.20pm on Monday, March 3.

PC Dave Phipps said: "Even though nothing was stolen on this occasion, it is clear they did intend to carry out the burglary.

"I want to remind residents the water board does not exist.

"The only water company that would be contacting you is Anglian Water and they will contact you to make an appointment before they attend.

"I'm keen to trace the man pictured in connection to the attempted distraction burglary as I believe he will be able to assist with police enquiries."

Anyone with information can contact PC Phipps on 08458 505505.

Woman saw thieves steal motorbike

A MOTORBIKE was stolen by two men who wheeled it away from the owner's home.

A woman saw the thieves push the bike down the road, away from a house in Annesley Road, Newport Pagnell.

She alerted the victim at the address who went to search for it, without success.

The red MZ301 was taken at 6.15pm last Tuesday.

DC John Swallow said: "I'm keen to trace the witness as I believe she can help provide descriptions of the two men and help us identify the offenders and trace the stolen bike.

"Anyone who witnessed the theft, saw the two men pushing or riding a red MZ301 in the area at the time or has any information can contact me or Crimestoppers anonymously."

The witness is white, aged in her late thirties to early forties and has light coloured hair.

She was seen getting into a small old style light blue car, possible a Ford Fiesta.

Contact DC Swallow on 08458 505505 or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555111.

Keep it Local -

visit Stony Stratford

& support your independent local traders

JUST a short distance from the centre of Milton Keynes is the jewel of the new city, Stony Stratford.

In this small market town you'll find a traditional high street which has flourished through the centuries – a retail centre full of small, independent shops. There's a small Saturday market and a farmers' market is held on the last Friday of each month in the Market Square. There are little arcades, and places to explore in Stony Stratford. There's something different round each corner and down the small alleyways. History oozes from the streets and pervades the buildings. Stony Stratford has always been important and it still is today. This is a town where live music rings out from the hostelries. So whether you go to Stony Stratford to shop, eat or be entertained you'll be sure of a very warm welcome.

What's it all about, Alfie?

THERE must be easier ways of making your first professional appearance on stage than by playing Alan Strang, the highly complex, deeply disturbed teenage boy at the centre of Peter Shaffer's play Equus.

However Daniel Radcliffe proved that it could be done in the 2007 West End revival and now it falls to Alfie Allen to approach the role with a similarly blank sheet of paper where his theatre credits are concerned.

"When I knew that I had got the part but when I was working on other things, I felt quite distanced from Equus," reveals Alfie.

"Whenever I thought about it, there was a mixture of emotions. I felt that cold fear but I also couldn't wait to get on with it."

In some ways, the actor cast as Alan Strang needs to have a raw, unschooled, naive quality about him. Too experienced a stage performer might be too self-conscious, too aware of theatrical technique to capture Strang's innocence. 21-year-old Alfie has already clocked up a number of film and television performances, notably in Atonement where his performance in a minor role was favourably noted by Peter Shaffer.

Having auditioned for the part, Alfie was later summoned to London's fashionable eaterie The Wolseley for an 8am breakfast meeting with Shaffer and Equus producer David Pugh.

"I think that this was my punctuality test," says Alfie with a smile.

"I was actually sitting at the table when they arrived and I'd already ordered. I did wonder if they planned to have breakfast with anybody else but once they started talking about my availability and asking if I had any problems with nudity, I felt more confident.

"Finally Peter had to leave and David followed him out of the restaurant and into Piccadilly. I watched them through the window talking in the street.

"Then David came back to the table and told me that they were offering me the part."

At the moment, Alfie is probably best known for his talented family.

His father Keith has most recently been glorying in nastiness as the villainous Sheriff of Nottingham in the BBC's Robin Hood while Alfie's mother is the prominent film producer Alison Owen whose respected screen credits include Elizabeth and Shaun of the Dead. Big sister Lily, the singer-songwriter, is one of the hottest acts on the current music scene and has already ensured a place for Alfie in posterity by immortalising him in a far from flattering light on her best-selling album Alright, still. To complete the show business connections, Alfie shares his private life with Jaime Winstone, the eldest daughter of tough guy thesp Ray.

"I am the youngest member of the cast and I know I have a lot to learn but I was really getting into it by yesterday afternoon.

"I like playing parts where you tiptoe around the line between what is acceptable and what is not acceptable. When I'm playing a character I like to put together a back story - what has happened to him before the play or the film begins. But Peter (Shaffer) gives you such a lot of information about Strang that you don't need to invent a history."

Understandably Alfie gibs at some comments that have characterised him as 'a bit of rough' casting for Alan.

"I think that I'm slightly more modern than Daniel and quite a bit bigger. I haven't got what you'd call an actor's face so I'll never do well in American films."

Alfie correctly points out that there is a great deal of difference, even if it's only four years, between his age (21) and Strang's (17).

"But I can identify with him in that he's reached that point in everyone's life when you realise that your parents are not quite the role models you thought they were. And Equus talks about those issues: the influence of television, mindless violence, that are more relevant today than ever."

The prospect of taking off his clothes on stage in front of hundreds of people does not seem to faze Alfie. Yet he is strangely self-conscious about other aspects of the job.

"I've been to premieres of things I've done and I hate watching myself on screen. You're going to fill yourself with doubt and I can't see the point of sitting there, getting all pernickety about your own performance. And when I do the play, I intend to forget all about the presence of an audience and I don't want to make eye contact with anybody.

"For me the nude scenes are simply part of the job, as long as I look reasonably fit while remaining in character. "

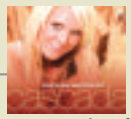
RESTLESS
Unkle

TO be honest, this feels more like an UNKLE remix of a Queens of the Stone Age single than an UNKLE single, not that that's a bad thing of course.

It's heavily guitar-led and it's sung by Josh Homme, but it bounces along at a decent pace, and even better, it changes tack a few times just to leave a little room for doubt as to what the song's going to do next.

And, er, actually, I think that's summed this song up quite nicely.



WHAT DO YOU WANT FROM ME?
Cascada

I WAS rather hoping for a poppy remake of the ancient Monaco track, but sadly some things just aren't meant to be.

It doesn't start too promisingly, this one – the proceedings are started in a low-key fashion, but it's not long before someone plugs in the drum machine and we're off and running.

I think they were trying to give the impression that this song might be a little slower than some of their others, but unfortunately it's so obvious that we're in for more of the same that any changes in tempo or style aren't just signposted for you, they're programmed into a sat-nav to make absolutely sure you won't encounter anything unexpected.

For heaven's sake, the chorus even includes the phrase 'love in the first degree'.

The last band to sing that line was Bananarama, but the horrors don't end there. Oh no, for some unexplained reason a random bloke is roped in to say 'What you want?' The first time I heard him say that, I was thinking 'well, a decent song for starters'.

Much as I'm glad it clocks in at under three minutes (thereby qualifying it as a potential Eurovision song), it seems to stop dead at an awkward point, which left me in the rather odd position of being glad it was over and yet feeling that the song had stopped too early.

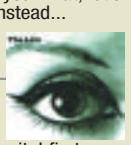
This really isn't a very good song at all, but it's going to be a hit and nothing short of the end of the world will stop that from happening.

THERE SHE GOES
La's

HOW can you not like it? It's a classic. All those jangly guitars, not to mention the fact that local radio have barely stopped playing it.

I can't stand it myself.

Classic or not, it's never done anything for me, which is rather annoying considering it's being re-issued to mark the release of a hugely upgraded version of the band's only album. Tell you what, let's have a look at the B-side instead...



WAY OUT
La's

NOW, this is much more like it. I first encountered this song on The Chart Show way back in 1987 and it wasn't until years later that I found out that the two songs were recorded by the same band. That was a shock, I can tell you.

This one predates There She Goes. It's not as polished, but the band actually sound as they're enjoying themselves more and the rough edges help it to stand proudly on its own two feet.

If I was at Universal Music, I'd have flipped the tracks over because this song deserves far more exposure than it's ever likely to get. Buy the single for the B-side.

EYE FOR PAINTING

AN artist with an unusual eye condition has revealed a collection of abstract paintings inspired by Milton Keynes.

Helen Thomas' artwork is being displayed on Whitewall in Midsummer Arcade.

Helen has an eye condition, nystagmus, which makes her eyes move quickly from side to side and has made her more aware of how we see and process our surroundings.

Hundreds is a collection of paintings produced in response to a visit made to Milton Keynes in January.

During the visit Helen's observations were informed by how we make sense of visual stimulus.

This process of collating and distilling fragments of visual information largely informs her process as a painter.

At first glance the five paintings appear haphazard, but upon further inspection they are actually created by a deliberate abstract process of layering and ordering.

Each brushstroke updates the surface with new information, creating an overall composition and concentration of colour, form, tone and movement, creating a controlled image. The process employed by the artist is similar to the way we processes visual information through sight.

The five paintings – Refresh, Encounter, Centre, Trace and Departure – are 5ft square, and will be on display until May.

THE SECRET GARDEN
Saturday March 29
FAMILY favourites Image Musical Theatre return with The Secret Garden. This now classic magical story of hidden places, personal secrets, revelation and transformation is on of the finest children's stories ever written.

Finding herself alone and unwanted in a bleak Yorkshire manor house Mary's unhappiness is fundamentally changed by the simple joy of two moorland children. In turn, when she shares the secret of her hidden garden, the entire household is brought back to life and the sad ghosts of the past are laid to rest.

With their usual hugely popular recipe for bringing a well loved story to a family audience the afternoon starts with a light hearted half hour rehearsal when some children are-chosen from the audience to take part and rehearsed into their roles. The rest of the audience is taught four chorus songs and the fun begins with everyone doing their bit for the hour long performance!

Suitable for ages 5-plus.

Tickets £6.50 in advance £7.50 on the day. Curtain up 2.30pm.

CHEFS'SECRETS

Wheat-free doesn't mean boring

I TRIED a wheat-free diet over 15 years ago, so I know what its like.

Back then supermarkets didn't cater for wheat-free as they do now. It was awful.

When I started reading every label, as you have to with this intolerance, I was astounded how much manufacturers bulk up food with wheat – ketchup, mustard, sausages and practically all the deli food contained wheat.

I had a continuous craving for a bacon sandwich and cheese on toast was like cheese on cardboard. Yum!!

A loaf of wheat-free bread in the early 90s was nearly £5. Thank God things have changed even though supermarket wheat-free bread still doesn't come close to the real thing, it's now better than it was.

We have more gluten and wheat allergics and people with Coeliac's condition eat at our restaurant than any other allergy group.

These allergies and conditions should not prevent people from having great food.

We make our own wheat-free bread and cater for allergies with care and attention. 95 per cent of our menu is free from wheat and our dishes have texture as often wheat-free diets lacks crunch.

Even though supermarket wheat-free bread does not make a great sandwich it is great for bread-crumbs.

This month crispy, wheat-free breaded pork with a prune stuffing on a simple butter bean and bacon mash is great for amazing your wheat eating friends and family.

Follow that with wheatless ginger sponge with a soft toffee centre.

We also make our own clotted cream and you won't believe how easy that is.

Emma Gilchrist

WHEAT FREE BREADED PORK LOIN

900g pork loin
Packet of pitted prunes
1/2 loaf wheat and gluten-free bread
English mustard
Oil
Salt
Pepper

1.Make a pocket in the pork loin (see photo) and fill with the prunes
2.Brush the pork lightly with oil and season with salt and pepper.
3.Seal the meat in a hot pan and put aside to cool and rest.
4.Blitz the loaf of bread in a food processor to make breadcrumbs.
5.Brush the pork, on all sides, with Dijon mustard and roll in the breadcrumbs.
5.Bake in a preheated oven, 200c for 45 minutes.
7.Slice into portions and serve with gravy.

WHITE BEAN AND BACON MASH

2 tins of butter beans
1 diced medium onion
6 rashers of streaky bacon cut into small pieces
Salt and pepper to taste

1.Gently fry the bacon until crispy and in the same pan sweat off the onion.
2.Drain the butter beans and add to the crispy bacon and onion.
3.When all warmed through, mash the beans, bacon, onion, salt and pepper together.

Wheat-free ginger sponge with toffee centre and easy home made clotted cream

WHEAT FREE GINGER SPONGE SERVES SIX

300g rice flour
6 teaspoons of ground cinnamon
3 teaspoons of ground ginger
3 teaspoons of bicarbonate of soda (baking soda)
300 g soft dark brown sugar
3 large free-range eggs
225g black treacle
160g margarine, melted
100g Fudge rolled in rice flour

1 Preheat the oven to 180C (350F) gas 4.
2 Grease a muffin or Yorkshire pudding tin, nonstick.
3 Make the pudding. sieve the flour into a bowl along with the spices. bicarbonate of soda (baking soda) and sugar.
4 Beat in the eggs, treacle, melted margarine.
5 Place a dessert spoon of the mixture in the bottom of each mould.
6 Place a piece of fudge on top.
7 Then another dessert spoon of the mixture on top to cover the fudge.
8 Bake in the oven for 35 minutes and serve.

EASY HOME MADE CLOTTED CREAM

Clotted cream is double cream with half the water removed 1 pint double cream

1.Gently heat the double cream in a pan.
2.As it comes to the boil remove from the heat and stir.
3.Repeat until reduced by half.
4.Pour into a shallow dish and leave to cool.
5.The cream will develop that typical clotted cream crust.
6.Refrigerate until needed.

Gary Wilmot star of Half A Sixpence together with MK Theatre chief executive Elizabeth Adlington and the management of Craig Anderson menswear

Thinking inside the box

MILTON Keynes' premier brand menswear retailers Craig Anderson Menswear popped open the champagne last Tuesday at Milton Keynes Theatre to celebrate their sponsorship of one of the boxes in the venue's modern and stylish auditorium.

Craig Vowles, Dean Anderson and Gary Higson, who are all directors of the store, were joined by the theatre's new chief executive Elizabeth Adlington and musical theatre star Gary Wilmot, who recently entertained audiences in Half A Sixpence.

Dean Anderson said: "Theatres are the heart of any community and most people, especially families, regularly attend. As an independent menswear retailer we felt we wanted to be a part of the community so we linked ourselves with Milton Keynes Theatre to help show our support and create public awareness that Craig Anderson Menswear was the place to dress for another great performance."

Craig Anderson Menswear provide fashionable, superbly made clothes in a relaxed and friendly environment at their store located on Upper Fourth Street in Central Milton Keynes.

■ For details of how your business can reach a new audience by getting involved in a variety sponsorship and exciting corporate opportunities at Milton Keynes Theatre, contact development manager Jane Humber on 01908 547608 or e-mail janehumber@theambassadors.com

MK Dons chairman goes back to school

CRANFIELD VentureDay, a one-day entrepreneurial conference and networking event at Cranfield School of Management is coming.

Hosted by the Bettany Centre for Entrepreneurial Performance and Economics at the school, VentureDay on May 15 is designed to serve as a platform for people interested or experienced in cutting-edge entrepreneurial performance: entrepreneurs, investors, service providers, consultants and academics.

A mixture of Cranfield alumni and experts from the Milton Keynes and Bedford regions are contributing to the day, including Pete Winkelman chairman of MK Dons and managing director of the property development consortium Inter MK.

Leading entrepreneurs including Steve Jolliffe of TopGolf, Nick Jenkins of Moonpig and Robert Wright of Wizz Air, all of whom are alumni of the school, will be contributing to the day.

A wide array of experienced early stage venture capitalists will be also contributing including ETCapital, Catapult Venture Managers, Sommerton Capital, Envestors and London Business Angels.

The conference will cover all stages of the entrepreneurial life cycle from early stage growth to harvest and exit.

There will be exhibits and pitches by new enterprises, a networking zone, exposure to the latest research on entrepreneurial performance and an extensive range of workshops and sessions by leading entrepreneurs, business angels, venture capitalists and academics on business start-up, growth, finance and entrepreneurial strategy.

For further information contact: Louise Gardener, The Bettany Centre on 01234 751122 or e-mail: louise.gardener@cranfield.ac.uk

Flu advice not to be sniffed at

THE younger generation took more time off work this winter from colds and flu than the older generation, according to a new survey from the Department of Health.

Only 16 per cent of people aged 55-plus had a day or more off work ill in the last six months due to colds and flu, compared to more than half of 16-24 year olds.

The survey of 2,000 adults in England pinpointed a trend – the younger you are, the more time you were likely to take off work suffering with colds and flu.

To help reduce the spread of germs which lead to colds and flu, the Department of Health is running the 'Catch it, Bin it, Kill it' campaign to raise awareness of the importance of practising good respiratory and hand hygiene.

By following three simple steps the spread of colds, flu and other illnesses can be reduced:

CATCH IT

Germs spread easily. Always carry tissues and use them to catch your cough or sneeze.

BIN IT

Germs can live for several hours on tissues. Dispos of your tissues as soon as possible.

KILL IT

Hands can transfer germs to every surface you touch. Clean your hands as soon as you can.

Professor Lindsey Davies, National Director of Pandemic Influenza Preparedness said: "This survey also revealed that the older generation (55-plus) take a more responsible approach to their respiratory and hand hygiene, being twice as likely to follow the 'Catch it, Bin it, kill it' routine, than those aged 25-34.

"Since they are also taking less time off work for colds and flu, the younger generation might be wise to take a few tips on how to practise good hygiene techniques from their elders – perhaps the older generation really does know best."

1. The publisher reserves the right to omit or suspend any advertisement even though accepted and paid for and to make any alterations necessary to maintain standards of the newspaper. The publisher also declines responsibility for the omission of a single advertisement or one or more of a series of advertisements from any cause whatsoever, nor do they accept liability for any loss or damage caused by an error or inaccuracy in the printing of an advertisement. (Advertisers are advised to check their advertisement after the insertion). No re-insertions refund or adjustment will be made where an error, misprint or omission does not materially detract from the advertisement. The Publisher may at its sole discretion re-insert the whole or part of the advertisement with corrections or refund part or the whole value of the advertisement.
2. The publisher reserves the right to decline any advertisement without giving an explanation or which they deem the content unsuitable for publication, whether an order has been accepted or not. The publisher will not accept orders for advertisements which it deems offensive or defamatory or which infringe the Trades Description Act 1968 and The British Code of Advertising Standards Authority on such matters.
3. An order for advertising services placed by an advertiser or an advertising agency on behalf of an advertiser constitutes an assurance that necessary authorisation or permission has been granted in respect of the use of the advertisement itself, pictorial representation of a living person, references made and words attributed to a living person and text which may be the subject of copyright protection.
4. Printed conditions on advertisement orders will not be recognised as binding unless expressly accepted in writing by the publishers.
5. Advertising rates involving a series, volume or prepayment discount are expressly for the use of the advertiser concerned and are not to divulged to a third party.
6. All artwork designed by the LSN Studio remains the property of LSN Media. Where artwork services are provided, it is on the understanding that it is for the sole use in any of the LSN Media publications unless prior agreement is sought, any unauthorised reproduction will result in a charge being levied on the publisher concerned.
7. Proofs of advertisements are provided upon request but cannot be guaranteed. Where a proof is supplied, the onus is on the recipient to check that all information is correct and to provide the publisher with any neccesary alterations or amendments before the expiration of the deadline. The publisher will not accept responsibility for errors in any advertisement where a proof is supplied and subsequently authorised for publication.
8. Although every effort will be made to meet advertisers requirements, specified positions cannot be guaranteed within the newspaper.
9. All advertisements which carry a premium telephone number must comply with the Code of Practice of The Independent Committee for the supervision of Standards of Telephone Information Services (CSTIS).
10. The advertiser (or his advertising agency) shall indemnify the publisher in respect of all costs, damages or any other charges as the result of legal action or the threat of legal action arising from the publisher of a single advertisement for a series of advertisements, published in accordance with copy instructions supplied to the publisher in pursuance of the advertiser or his advertising agency's order.
11. If an advertisement does not appear due to copy or artwork being supplied after the agreed deadline, the space will be payable in full at the published rates.
12. A request to insert an advertisement assumes acceptance of our Terms & Conditions of Advertising.

DISTRIBUTION

1. Unless otherwise stated, distribution will normally take place within the specified publication to the individual addresses which usually receive the publication within the area and on the date scheduled. This does not necessarily imply 100% delivery to all addresses within the area.
2. The publisher shall not be liable for total or partial non delivery of any publication in which an advertisement is scheduled to appear and no reinsertion, refund or adjustment will be made to the advertiser.

BOX NUMBERS

While every endeavour will be made to forward replies to box numbers to the advertiser as soon as possible, no liability will be accepted by the publisher in respect of any loss, damage or delay in forwarding such replies.

CANCELLATION

1. Cancellation of advertisements must be advised 24 hours prior to the booking deadline. If the publisher is unable to resell the space he reserves the right to charge for any loss of revenue incurred.
2. If any advertiser in receipt of a series, volume or prepayment discount cancels before fulfilling the terms of the agreed order, the publisher reserves the right to make a surcharge up to the full published rates for the type of advertisement.
3. Queries concerning cancelled advertisements must be accompanied by the stop number given at the time of cancellation.

PAYMENT

1. Credit facilities are at the discretion of the publisher, but such facilities are limited to strict terms of 30 days. Late payment of account may lead to suspension of account facilities. Any discount which the publisher may have agreed with the advertiser may be forfeit should the advertiser fail to meet the agreed credit terms.
2. Prepaid accounts must be settled by no later than the two days prior to publication. The publisher reserves the right to suspend any advertisement where payment has not been received.
3. Dishonoured cheques will incur a £20 administration fee.

All rates are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time of any advertisement is booked to appear. Recognised advertising agency is 10%

AXIS ELECTRONICS

TECHNOLOGY AND SERVICE IN QUALITY MANUFACTURING

Axis Electronics is one of the UK's leading hi-tech electronic manufacturing companies specialising in aerospace and defence products. We have rapidly established a reputation as a major player in producing the highest quality assembled circuit boards and are now seen as a leader in this field.

MK MOTORING

Reduce your carbon tyre print

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

EUROPE'S first environmentally friendly car and van hire company has opened its doors in Milton Keynes.

The innovative new company, called Green Motion, allows customers to hire environmentally friendly vehicles and play their part in reducing carbon emissions.

Based in Erica Road, Stacey Bushes Trading Estate, Green Motion offers a choice of rental with the latest environmental technologies and lowest Co2 emissions from the VW Polo Bluemotion, Toyota Hybrid, Citreon, Honda Hybrid, Lexus Hybrid and the Bio Fuel Saab range.

It also offers light commercial vans for hire featuring stop and go technology, which automatically turns off the engine when the vehicle comes to a halt.

This conserves fuel while stuck in traffic and the engine restarts in 400 milliseconds when the driver releases the brake.

Daniel Shepperd, director of the Milton Keynes franchise said: "Now you have the choice to hire green cars and vans, a choice that not only benefits the environment but gives you better fuel economy.

"We are able to offer tailored packages to suit your company, both long and short term rental and lease agreements are available."

He added: "Pollution and emissions from vehicles are major contributing factors to global climate changes and by making a concious decision to hire greener vehicles you are making an immediate difference.

"Hiring our Bluemotion low emission Polo for a week instead of a normal small car could reduce your carbon footprint as much as recycling 500 plastic bags."

The company, which has also chosen Platinum House in Central Milton Keynes as its head office, has spread the sensitivity to green issues across its whole ethos.

This includes using pens made out of recycled car parts and flooring that is environmentally friendly.

Green Motion already has franchises open in Milton Keynes, Oxford and London and hopes to have 25 open across the country by the end of year.

■ For more information or to hire a vehicle call 01908 230530 or visit www.greenmotion.com

Tailored to suit: Daniel Shepperd of Green Motion

ATTENTION BUSINESS USERS

Keep your costs down!

Buying nearly new really does make business sense!

Do you need to tighten the company belt due to the economic climate, but need to expend or up date your company cars to embrace new fuel and tax saving technology? Are the mileages getting too high on current vehicles, increasing your maintenance and service costs? You can limit both buy buying nearly new cars not brand new cars and let the manufacturer take the huge initial depreciation. Three makes of late plate cars available from one dealer…Perrys Milton Keynes.

Crash, bang, wallop

Red Bull's Coulthard and Webber both miss out in F1 season's Oz opener

David Coulthard and Sebastian Vettel (Scuderia Toro Rosso)

Mark Webber, Takuma Sato (Super Aguri) and Nelson Piquet Jr (Renault)

LEWIS Hamilton may have had a dream start to the new Formula One season but it was a nightmare for Red Bull Racing.

Drivers David Coulthard and Mark Webber both crashed out in an action-packed race which saw just seven cars cross the finish line.

Webber had a home Grand Prix to forget after issues with his brakes marred qualifying, leaving him back in 15th place on the grid.

And the race itself never got any better for the Australian as Anthony Davidson's Super Aguti car hit Webber on turn three which damaged the rear suspension.

Webber was forced to withdraw.

Davidson, Jenson Button, Giancarlo Fisichella and Sebastian Vettel were also victims of a dramatic opening lap.

Despite the disappointment Webber was in an optimistic mood, looking forward to the next race.

"It hasn't been a good Australian Grand Prix weekend for me," he added, "I'm looking forward to getting up to Kuala Lumpur for next weekend's Malaysian Grand Prix and starting my season's campaign there.

"We weren't phenomenal guys before this race and we are not stupid after it, so we really need to analyse in all the details what has happened.

"And on the other hand we need to understand if we have the time to fix the problems that we had."

In the middle of all the mayhem Webber's team mate Coulthard had slipped from eighth to tenth.

With cars dropping like flies the Scotsman could have mounted a challenge for the first points in the season.

That was until Felipe Massa tried to overtake Coulthard at turn one on lap 25 and collided with the Red Bull car. The shunt destroyed Coulthard's rear right tyre and left his front left hanging on by a thread.

The veteran racer struggled to contain his anger, after crashing out on the opening day for two years running, as he turned ITV's coverage blue by swearing live on TV.

A furious Coulthard called for Massa to apologise for running his race, he said: "Obviously Felipe is in a quicker car with a bit more top speed. But you've got to pass someone, you can't just ram into the side of them," Coulthard said.

"I know I screwed up in the same way with Alex (Wurtz) last year and I took full responsibility for it and I would expect Felipe to do the same."

But Massa shifted the blame back on to Coulthard.

"He didn't see me. Next time ask him to watch in the mirrors because I was completely inside. I'm definitely not going to speak to him." The Brazilian said.

Red Bull will be hoping to have a better run out ths weekend at the Malaysian Grand Prix.

BASKETBALL

Lions are looking for top two spot

WITH the basketball season drawing to a close Lions coach Vince Macauley is keen to make sure they end on a high.

The Lions, currently in fourth place, have eight games left to build on their position in the league.

There was no rest for the wicked as the Lions continued to train in preparation of their clash with London Capital, despite having a fixture-free weekend.

"This season we made fitness one of our main priorities, which we haven't done in the past, and I think you can see the difference," said Macauley.

"It's been difficult trying to get some of the older players to adapt to new methods, because they've been stuck in their ways for years. But once they've changed a few things and saw the rewards they gradually expected certain aspects of training needed to be tweaked."

At the start of the campaign Macauley sat down with the players and gave them all goals to achieve by the end of the year.

The list was then blown up and pinned in the dressing room before every game and laying down the targets seems to have worked so far.

"It's been our most successful season already," Macauley added, "but we can't let our form in the league dip because we want to finish as strongly as we started.

"Staying in the top four would be great, but ideally if we're going to push ourselves top two would be the target. A home advantage in the play-offs would be extremely important, it's something we've never had before."

Lions have their best ever win-loss ratio with 16-9, and Macauley is desperate to keep the defeats at a single figure, again something Lions have never done before.

■ ON Friday the Lions play host to London Capital. Tip-off is at 7.30pm.

■ THE Lions have changed a number of their upcoming fixtures.

They travel to Scottish Rocks on Wednesday, March 26. Tip-off 7.30pm. The trip to Everton Tigers is on Wednesday, April 9. Tip-off 8pm, then Plymouth Raiders on Wednesday, April 19. Tip-off 7.30pm.

ICE HOCKEY

It's a knockout for Lightning

MK Lightning finished their league season with two defeats but now have the Knockout Cup final and play-offs to concentrate on.

Last night Lightning were battling it out in the first leg of the Knockout cup final with Peterborough Phantoms and tomorrow the winner will be decided at Planet Ice.

Lightning will also start their play-off campaign this weekend. They have been drawn in a tough, but winnable group where they will face Slough Jets, Swindon Wildcats and Bracknell Bees.

A mixed record against the English Premier League trio has set up an exciting competition.

Two wins, one in overtime and two defeats to Bracknell in the league this year would hint it is tough to separate the sides, but Lightning do have the better record in their cup meetings with two victories and one defeat.

Slough Jets, who finished second in the EPL, will be Lightning's toughest opposition. They have won all four of the league meetings this year.

Two of Lightning's losses to the Jets have come in penalty shoot-outs.

And that was exactly how their penultimate league game ended, with a penalty defeat to the Jets.

Steve Moria broke the deadlock on the 21st minute to give the Jets a goal advantage. Ales Parez pulled Lightning back level in the third period, but the scores remained tied and the game went into overtime before going to penalties with Moria netting the winner.

Next day Lightning squandered a two goal lead as they lost 5-3 to Guildford Flames.

Chris McEwen and Toni Alasaarela fired Lightning ahead but Guildford quickly pulled three back to lead at the break.

Another goal eight minutes into the second period stretched Guildford's lead to 4-2 before Matt Towalski grabbed one back.

Lightning almost kept the deficit to two until Guildford stuck again nine seconds from time.

The two defeats ensured Lightning finished sixth in the EPL and were given the tough play-off group.

■ TOMORROW Lightning host the second-leg of their Knockout Cup final against Peterborough, face-off is at 7.45pm.

On Saturday they travel to Slough, face-off is at 7.45pm, the return leg is on Sunday, face-off at 6pm.

STONY STRATFORD TOWN came out on top following a 12 goal thriller in the South Midlands division one meeting with Winslow United.

The 7-5 win moved Stony back to fifth place while Winslow United remain in a lowly 16th.

BUCKINGHAM ATHLETIC slipped down to tenth after losing 1-0 to Cheshunt reserves, while NEW BRADWELL ST PETER beat Bedford 2-0 to go sixth.

In division two OLD BRADWELL UNITED were hammered 6-0 by Tring Corinthians and stay second from bottom, MURSLEY UNITED also lost 4-1 to Crawley Green.

NEWPORT PAGNELL TOWN picked up a much needed 3-1 win over bottom side AFC Kempston Rovers to move into 16th place in the United Counties premier division.

In division one OLNEY TOWN beat Rothwell Corinthians and are now in sixth place.

Local rugby

MILTON Keynes dumped Bletchley out of the Bucks Cup with a narrow 20-18 win in the semi-final.

A division higher than their opposition, Bletchley were expected to win the game but MK made them pay for early mistakes.

Daniel Walker collected a miss-kick by the Bletchley fly-half and ran up field before offloading to scrum half Dafydd Bretherton who scored in the corner for a 5-0 lead.

Again Walker found space to play his hand in winger Daniel Pearson's try which doubled MK's advantage.

An excellent run by Cuan MacKenzie helped Bletchley in the reply as the winger's darting break saw the ball exchange hands before prop Tom Hannell dived over the line. Phil Harman's touchline conversion pulled the score to 10-7.

Abel Ripine then breached MK's line to give Bletchley a slim lead, for the first time, at half-time.

Ten minutes after the restart MK regained the lead with a successful penalty from Andrew White, but Bletchley were back in front two minutes later through Harman's drop goal.

Harman extended the lead further with another Bletchley penalty.

A scrum five metres out gave MK the opportunity to get back on level terms, and David Matthews grabbed it with both hands as he bundled over the line.

With the score at 18-18 White remained calm to slot in the winning conversion.

PREVIEWS

PETERBOROUGH
League Two
Friday, March 21. KO 7.45pm
stadiummk

THE big one – a Good Friday clash between the two title-chasing sides is one of the most important matches in League Two this season.

Paul Ince has already got the better of his counterpart in the Johnstone's Paint Trophy and their earlier league meeting.

But since then Darren Ferguson's men have found the form that was expected of them and they have wasted no time in chipping away at the Dons' top of the table lead.

However, the Dons do still have the advantage, a game in hand and back in first place on goal difference.

Poshs' side is littered with danger men, including the 29-goal Aaron McLean and his strike partner Craig Mackail-Smith while Joe Lewis, who was a club record buy at £400,000, stands resilient in goal.

ACCRINGTON STANLEY
League Two
Monday, March 24. KO 3pm
The Fraser Eagle Stadium

ACCRINGTON Stanley have shown no signs of 'second season syndrome' in League Two.

After a 44-year absences from the football league Stanley battled hard and finished four points above the relegation zone last year.

With eight games to go they are just five points away from matching last year's total of 50 points and boss John Coleman has targeted a top-half of the table finish.

The Dons were a class above Stanley when they came to stadiummk in December, with the midfield firing five past a lonely Ian Dunbavin in goal.

On that day Lloyd Dyer chipped in with two while Keith Andrews, Colin Cameron and Alan Navarro also scored.

MK DONS v DAGENHAM & REDBRIDGE SATURDAY, MARCH 15

Dire Daggers no danger to Dons

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

IT was all a little too easy.

From the first to the final whistle Dagenham and Redbridge never looked like they would trouble MK Dons, they only ever looked a danger to themselves.

The Dons never needed to reach their best but still managed to fire four past the Daggers' keeper.

It has been some time since stadiummk have seen the Dons win a game by more than one goal, in fact it was way back in December when five went in against Accrington Stanley.

But the rampant display was well worth the wait as the Dons opened the scoring while some supporters were still finding their seats.

Great movement by Jemal Johnson and Dean Lewington created the pathway as they exchanged passes down the left and Lewington played a neat ball in for Aaron Wilbraham to head home at the near post.

A simple move that left the Daggers shell-shocked by the ease in which the Dons found the net so early on.

And the next wave of attack presented the Dons with their second of the afternoon, which was just as well worked as the first.

Johnson again played his hand in the goal when he picked up Colin Cameron's knock forward and raced up field, although the Daggers' defence tried to close him down Johnson was able to square the ball into the box from the byline.

Aaron Wilbraham is smothered after opening the scoring

Lloyd Dyer arrived on time to slot in the Dons' second after just ten minutes.

Daggers' boss John Still was fuming after the match, saying his players had ignored all their preparation work and not played as a team: "I had two individuals who didn't stick to a game plan from the first minute of the game," he said, "we have to play as a team, everyone has to play to a pattern because it suits us. But I had two people that think they can do something different.

"We have a really great team, but we don't have great individuals."

Still had watched Jon Nurse waste his side's best chance of the half by blasting a long range effort into row-Z before the Dons netted their third two minutes later.

Left-back Scott Griffiths had a torrid afternoon trying to keep Dyer in check – the tricky winger produced step-over after step-over before providing Wilbraham with a perfect cross for his second goal.

Dagenham could have grabbed one back moments later, when Willy Gueret dropped Glen Southam's corner but the back line were able to clear.

The closest the Daggers came to getting a consolation was through a fierce strike from Griffiths in the second half, he was only denied by a superb finger-stinging save by Gueret at his top right corner.

It was always going to be difficult for the Dons to maintain the same drive of the opening 45 minutes, however they did continue hunting for more glory in front of goal.

That eventually came from substitute Kevin Gallen who turned inside Mark Arber and drilled into the net.

There was even time for defender Sean O'Hanlon to try and get in on the action with a cheeky punt from the edge of the area, which hit the bar and Jude Stirling also smashed the woodwork with the follow-up.

VIEW FROM THE MOOCAMP

MK Dons will not be retaining their Berks and Bucks Senior Cup title.

The Dons lost 3-0 to a strong Wycombe Wanderers outfit.

In a repeat of last year's final local rivals Wycombe gained revenge by knocking the Dons out at the semi-final stage.

A NUMBER of first team Dons players got a valuable run out in the reserves' fixture against Southend on Monday.

Kevin Gallen and Gareth Edds, both on the return from injury, featured along side Jake Livermore, Sam Baldock and Jordan Hadfield.

The Dons came from behind to take a 2-1 lead but could not hold on as Matt Harrold netted late on.

Tottenham loanee Livermore got the Dons on the right track following Harolds' opener on the 19th minute.

Livermore started the move with a crossfield ball to Charlie Barnett, Luke Howell then exchanged passes with Gallen before teeing up Livermore, who smashed the back of the net from 12 yards.

Substitute Daniel Powell then made an immediate impact when he latched onto Edds' volley to take it beyond Southend 'keeper Steve Collis.

But the Shrimpers hit back two minutes later Zoltan Liptak tapping in Luke Thurbourne's corner, before Harrold snatched victory with his second when he scooped a loose ball into the net.

THERE was better news for the Dons Under-18s who recorded back-to-back away wins.

Mike Dove's young guns have been in fine form of late and victories over Cardiff City and Southampton only highlighted it further.

The Dons recovered from an unfortunate Tom Flanagan own goal in the first half to win 3-1 with Reis Ashraf, Daniel Powell and Stephane Koffi all hitting the target.

While Daniel Delderfield's stunning 25-yard strike was enough to overcome Southampton.

Don't miss out: The Dons have 6,000 more Wembley tickets – see right

6,000 extra tickets

MORE Johnstone's Paint Trophy final tickets will go on sale to MK Dons fans.

The club have been given an extra 6,000 tickets, taking the allocation over 32,000, for the game at Wembley against Grimsby on Sunday, March 30.

The Dons have received tickets in each of the £20, £30 and £50 categories but they will not go on general sale until Thursday.

Today (Tuesday) and tomorrow supporters that unsuccessfully queued at stadiummk on the first day of general sale (Sunday, March 8) and filled in a ticket request form at the time will be contacted by the club and offered priority to purchase tickets.

On Thursday tickets will then be available to everybody on general sale, but only via MK Dons' online ticket service, at www.mkdons.com.

They are expected to go on sale at midday.

The club has yet to decide whether tickets will go on sale to personal callers to the MK Dons' box office.

Should the 6,000 tickets sell-out and the demand remains high for Johnstone's Paint Trophy final tickets the Dons will negotiate further with Wembley and the Football League with a view to making more tickets available.

Supporters will be able to purchase a maximum of 10 tickets per person.
Tickets are priced as follows:
£20 (£10 concessions)
£30 (£15 concessions)
£50 Club Wembley (no concessionary price)

MK DONS v DAGENHAM & REDBRIDGE SATURDAY, MARCH 15

Dons double goal scorer Aaron Wilbraham get bove Anwar Uddins and Mark Arber

Aaron finally gets a run

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

AFTER months of stop-start football Aaron Wilbraham finally got back onto the score sheet at the weekend and he had his sights set on a hat-trick.

An injury prone season has stuttered Wilbraham's run in the Dons side but he was able to put it behind him with two of the four goals scored against Dagenham and Redbridge.

In his first start since early February Wilbraham got his name on the score sheet in the third minute and again eight minutes before the break.

And the striker admitted he was relieved to see things work out on the day.

"I've set a few up but not got as many goals as I would have liked to," he added, "so it was good to get on the end of things and get a few goals."

With a brace to his name Wilbraham set his eyes on a third and even asked skipper Keith Andrews if he could take over penalty duties for the afternoon.

"I was dying for a penalty, I've been out for a long time and my legs were going a bit.

"I'd already asked Keith if I could have it, he said no problem.

"I've had about 10 twos in my career, I haven't had a hat-trick yet so when I got in at half-time I was thinking I might get one but never mind."

Injuries and strikers seem to go hand in hand at the Dons this season with both Wilbraham and Kevin Gallen showing promise when they get close to full fitness, before another injury stops them in their tracks.

"Every time I come back and just get into my stride I get knocked down again. You've got to take it, sometimes it happens."

With 90 minutes under his belt, his tally at five goals, and Gallen also returning from a thigh strain things up front are looking more promising for the Dons.

See England U19s take on Russia

ENGLAND'S stars of tomorrow are gearing up for their friendly against Russia at stadiummk.

The Under-19s will take on their Russian counterparts on Tuesday, March 25 as the warm up for their European Championship Elite Qualifiers steps up a gear.

Led by head coach Brian Eastick, England Under-19s will need to top a group that includes Belarus, Poland and Serbia if they are to qualify for the July showcase in the Czech Republic.

In recent years a number of Premiership starlets have been capped at Under-19s level, including Wayne Rooney, Stewart Downing and Aaron Lennon.

This year it is no different, with Chelsea's highly rated Scott Sinclair, currently on loan with Charlton, picked in the squad for the match at the Dons' stadium.

Aston Villa's Ciaran Clark, who scored in the Under-19s' 2-0 win over Croatia, has also been named in Barwick's side.

Looking ahead to the game Barwick is hoping England can build on the win over Croatia but knows Russia will be a tough opposition.

"It was an excellent win against Croatia in difficult conditions.

"The fact we kept a clean sheet was also pleasing but we know that Russia will be a step up in class and that's just what we want at this stage of our preparations.

"Like us, they're one of the top seeds for the Elite Qualifiers so it will be a good test. We're unbeaten in five games on home soil this season, so it would be nice to make it six at Milton Keynes before leaving for the Euro qualifying round in Eastern Europe."

It will be the second international to be held at stadiummk since the opening in July last year.

When Stuart Pearce brought his England Under-21 team to Milton Keynes they beat Bulgaria 2-0 and Barwick will be hoping the ground becomes a lucky one for England.

■ Tickets £3 adults in advance (£5 on the day) and £1 for concessions.

Call the MK Dons Box Office at stadiummk on 01908 622900 for further information or to book tickets.

England Under-19s squad: David Button - Spurs, Jason Steele - Middlesbrough, Ryan Bertrand - Chelsea (on loan at Norwich City), Ciaran Clark - Aston Villa, Mark Beevers - Sheffield Wednesday, Curtis Obeng - Man City, Krystian Pearce - Birmingham City (on loan at Port Vale), James Tomkins (West Ham Utd), Sone Aluko - Birmingham City (on loan at Aberdeen), Jack Cork - Chelsea (on loan at Scunthorpe Utd), Kieran Gibbs - Arsenal (on loan at Norwich City), James Henry - Reading (on loan at Norwich City), Edward Upson - Ipswich Town, Joshua Walker - Middlesbrough, Andy Carroll - Newcastle Utd, Fred Sears - West Ham Utd, Scott Sinclair - Chelsea (on loan at Charlton), Daniel Sturridge - Man City.

FANS' FAVOURITE WRITES

PAUL MITCHELL

IT'S fair to say that we have taken a bit of stick for some of our home performances. Like I've said on many occasions it really is down to the negative attitude the away team come with.

Hindsight is a wonderful thing, I think that if Dagenham and Redbridge had their time again they too would of adopted the common approach of trying to get as many players behind the ball as possible. One reason why they didn't do this is because a draw just doesn't seem to be good enough whether you're at the bottom fighting relegation or at the top looking for that great prize of promotion.

Honestly though, we were a class above on Saturday. I feel if we hadn't taken our foot off the gas in the second half, there could have easily been more.

It was great to see Alby back playing again having endured a season plagued with niggling injuries and to get two goals was the least he deserved after a fantastic display. He really does bring something different to the front line.

As I've said before, I'm no mathematician so I don't know how many points we need but all we have to do is to keep winning and Saturday's result has really put the cat amongst the pigeons. Not only was it a fine win but a very good performance. To put four goals past a resurgent Dagenham team really sends a big message that we are here for the duration.

I don't think I've ever been more excited about an up and coming game as I have with this top of the league clash. It's definitely going to be one not to miss as both teams will go hell for leather to get the win. With Peterborough drawing on Saturday, it really adds that bit of spice that they have to come here to try and take the game to us. As our excellent away record shows, this tactic really suits our fast flowing style of football.

What a game it promises to be along with a fantastic atmosphere as always. Let's really raise the roof on Friday night by getting behind the boys.

See you all there!

against Sheffield United when he dished out four yellows and the league game against Chesterfield when he showed five.

Joslin has refereed 30 games this season, handing out 96 yellows cards and five reds in the process.

Red is the colour

MK Dons are destined to do great things at Wembley because they will be wearing red.

Recent research suggests teams that wear predominantly red strips are more successful.

English league results since the Second World War have shown teams in red have picked up more points per game and finished higher in the league on average compared to those in other colours.

And England wore red when they won the World Cup in 1966.

It is believed red provides a psychological advantage because oppositions subconsciously associate it with dominance and aggression.

Songs for Wembley

DONS fans are throwing their support behind the club by writing songs for the day out at Wembley.

Steven Sciberras penned 'Stand Together' which will be played at stadiummk on Friday, March 21 when the Dons take on Peterborough United.

The musician is hoping his song, which features Jason Oakes on vocals, will be embraced by supporters.

"It's an anthem, not just a football song, there is something a bit more rock and roll about it." Steve said.

"I don't want it to be a one-off gimmick, it would be great it if became the Dons' answer to Liverpool's 'You'll Never Walk Alone.' They are lyrics fans can call their own."

Shahnaz Hussain-Hall, a Dons season ticket holder, has also created a song called 'We're the Dons' which he described as 'a bit Chas 'n' Dave'.

To listen to his song go to www.kik-music.org.uk

Last week MK NEWS featured Ian Roberts' 'GO:Milton Keynes', he has since created a website and you can listen to his Dons record by visiting www.myspace.com/gomiltonkeynes.

Support from Lions

THE city's basketball side are showing their support for the Dons.

MK Lions were due to take on Birmingham Panthers on the same day as the cup final. But the Lions have postponed the BBL match and will instead travel to Wembley to support their footballing neighbours.

Travel by train

A NUMBER of trains will be running to accommodate football fans for their trip to Wembley.

Trains from Milton Keynes Central and Bletchley will arrive at Harrow and Wealdstone where supporters will switch to the London Underground for approximately a 10 minute journey to Wembley.

THE clash of the Titans takes place this Friday and a lot more than three points could be up for grabs.

MK Dons host Peterborough United in a top-of-the-table game that has the potential to make or break either side's title hopes.

But Paul Ince believes his side have what it takes to win the six pointer because his players are mentally tough enough to cope with the big occasions.

Ince said: "The game is probably bigger to the fans than it is to us. If we lose it's not going to ruin our season, but obviously we'll do everything possible to get all three points.

"We now have a bunch of lads who are mentally tough enough to prepare for any opposition and any occasion. Sometimes you can get out on the pitch and really feel the pressure which effects the way you play football. But that just doesn't happen to us."

While the Dons' rampant 4-0 win over Dagenham and Redbridge provided them with three vital points, Peterborough slipped up as they were held to a goalless draw, at home, by Notts County.

The results ensured the Dons returned to the top of League Two, on goal difference, and still have a game in hand over second placed Posh.

Not only did the results provide the Dons with a psychological boost but it also stretched their unbeaten run to nine games.

The League Two leaders currently have 78 points to their name, and with nine games left they are just six points away from matching last season's tally of 84 which saw them finish fourth.

"Every game from now on is a massive one. We have nine games left to complete what we set out to do at the start of the season.

"At the moment we are able to score important goals and we're not conceding many. We're finally hitting the form we had earlier in the season which got us into a good position."

It will be the fourth time Ince has taken on Darren Ferguson in his managerial career and so far so good for the Dons boss.

He was won all three of their previous meetings, once with Macclesfield Town and twice with the Dons.

But Ince knows the threat his old Manchester United team mate carries.

"Peterborough are a dangerous side, they have two strikers in Aaron McLean and Craig Mackail-Smith who score goals for fun.

"They are going to come here desperate to take something from us but we've got to show we're the better side.

"Darren's a good friend of mine. He's done a great job there, they may have spent a lot of money but he still has to coach them the right way and get them fired up for the big occasions.

"I'd like us both to get where we want at the end of the season."

A bumper crowd is expected for the mouthwatering clash with Peterborough snapping up their 3,500 allocated tickets, stadiummk is set to break it's League Two attendance record of 13,037, as up to 14,000 are set to turn out for the Good Friday meeting.

MILTON KEYNES COUNCIL

Revised Easter recycling and refuse collection days on the back page

Spring into Recycling

Milton Keynes Council is joining forces with Recycle Now, the national recycling campaign for England, to encourage people to think twice before throwing away the household waste they generate when spring cleaning.

The start of Spring is traditionally the time when many people will think of clearing out things they no longer use or need, and giving their houses a thorough clean. But many people do not realise just how much of the stuff they traditionally throw away could be reused or recycled.

Julie Brown, of Recycle Now, says: "While we tend to be a nation of hoarders, Spring is often the time we choose to tidy our homes and organise our belongings. This year we are encouraging people to remember to recycle whilst they are de-cluttering their home.

Andy Hudson, Chief Waste Management Engineer at the council, adds, "More than half of the contents of your bin can be recycled, so why not extend your spring clean to your dustbin and also recycle your paper, card, plastic bottles, cans and foil in your pink sack and glass bottles and jars in your blue box or use your local recycling bank."

Milton Keynes Council collects bigger items for recycling and disposal free of charge, from old fridges and washing machines to sofas and beds. To find out more about this service, or to book a free collection, visit www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/bulkywaste, email recycling@milton-keynes.gov.uk or call 01908 25 25 70.

TOP TIPS

Top tips on how to de-clutter and recycle those unwanted possessions:

- Set a realistic target about how much can be achieved - trying to do too much can be de-motivating.
- Set aside dedicated time with no interruptions and no-one else in the house.
- Move clutter in the cupboards, on top of cabinets, on top of/around fireplaces, on shelves, window ledges and on walls.
- Know what can be recycled – telephone directories, newspapers and magazines, junk mail, old bills and letters can all go in your pink sack.
- Old clothes and shoes can be taken to charity shops, jumble sales or recycling banks.
- Get two large bags – use one to put items that can be recycled in and the other for things that can be donated to a charity shop and a smaller bag for non-recyclable waste, there shouldn't be much.

Cash for Trash

Since Cash for Trash launched in June last year more than £5000 has been given away in prize money. More than 40 residents have won £100, with Timothy Bates from Walnut Tree grabbing an amazing £1000!

It's a bonus week for Easter: one lucky recycler will win an Easter bonus prize of £500!

All you need to do to be in with a chance of winning is recycle: it really is that simple!

Don't forget – because of the Easter Holidays, collections change Friday and next week (see back page for Bank Holiday changes).

Timothy Bates receives his £1000 Cash for Trash prize from Daniel Pemberton of Community Waste, which has provided all the prize money.

Garden Waste Collections

The council's 2008 garden waste scheme has now been running for several weeks. For a one-off payment of £16 – residents get garden waste collections until the end of November, saving thousands of car miles in trips to the Community Recycling Centres (tips).

Cllr Douglas McCall, cabinet member responsible for recycling, says: "our garden waste scheme is hugely popular with over 30,000 people using it last year. I'm a customer myself and I'll be taking advantage of my green bin when I get out in me having to load up the car and is useful when I've got too much stuff for my compost bin."

Residents can join the scheme anytime by calling 01908 25 26 66, or paying at the cash desk in the council offices at Saxon Gate East.

For more information about the scheme visit www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/gardenwaste, email recycling@milton-keynes.gov.uk or

Waste development plan document

YOUR WASTE ☑ YOUR CASH ☑ YOUR CHOICE ☑

Following a long consultation process, the Waste Development Plan Document (WDPD), which sets out how Milton Keynes is to manage its waste needs until 2026, has been formally adopted by the council.

The WDPD identifies sites that could be used for waste purposes and includes one at Old Wolverton, opposite the council's Materials Recycling Facility.

A Public Examination was held in October 2007 when the document was looked at closely by an independent inspector. The council revised the final WDPD to include the inspector's recommendations.

You can see the inspector's report at www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/planning-policy or see a hard copy at Civic Offices and all libraries across the borough.

Easter DIY waste

An increase in home improvements over the Bank Holiday is set to bring a large increase in household waste, which many DIY enthusiasts are unaware can be recycled or at the very least reduced.

Milton Keynes Council's Waste Reduction Officer, Paul Mocroft wants people to think about the waste they generate when undertaking DIY: "Putting up new shelves, dismantling old cupboards and general decorating always leads to one big question – what to do with all that extra rubbish? People often don't realise that much of the DIY rubbish they create can be recycled"

Paul adds: "If residents have large amounts of DIY waste that need disposing of we will collect it for a small charge. The great thing about the council's service is that it's significantly cheaper than hiring a skip!"

To find out more about this service, or to book a collection, email recycling@milton-keynes.gov.uk or call 01908 25 25 70.

Top Tips for reusing /recycling DIY waste

Cardboard boxes

In recent years there has been a surge in the amount of furniture bought as flat packs, much of which comes packaged in large amounts of cardboard. If they fit in the pink sack, boxes can be put out for collection, otherwise recycle them at your Community Recycling Centre.

Paint

A lick of paint is the quickest way to transform a room but very often there are leftovers – as much as 82 million litres of paint end up unused, stored in homes or garages, or just thrown away! To stop your paint from drying out, cover the tin with a layer of clingfilm before putting the lid back on securely and store the tin upside down.

Bricks and building rubble

Bricks and building rubble can be taken to your nearest Community Recycling Centre where they will be used as hardcore.

other building materials that are in good condition can be sold, donated or re-used.

Building materials are always in demand so advertise in local papers, community notice boards, or www.freecycle.org.

Unwanted furniture may be able to go to another good home. Contact Age Concern Milton Keynes furniture store (01908 26 38 38) or The Willen Hospice Furniture Store (01908 648377) who can arrange for free collections.

Textiles

All kinds of textiles can be recycled at recycling banks and centres. But if you've got items which are worn or ripped why not use them when you're renovating. Old bed sheets make great dust sheets, and tatty t-shirts can be ripped up for rags or

Fly-tipping costs us all

Since the operation commenced, twelve people have been caught fly-tipping various items at recycling sites in Milton Keynes. All recycling should be put into the banks and not left by the side. Rubbish should not be dumped here.

Fly-tipping, the illegal act of dumping rubbish, has a serous adverse impact on the environment, is antisocial, unsightly and can pose a significant risk to the health of the borough's residents and wildlife. On top of this is the cost to all tax payers: a massive £100-£150 million every year!

Due to the vast amount of fly-tipping at recycling banks throughout the borough, council enforcement officers of the Safer Communities Unit are monitoring and targeting those who feel it is acceptable to dump rubbish illegally in this manner.

Recycling banks are for recyclable waste only! Leaving any other waste at the banks is fly-tipping, with offenders making themselves liable to arrest, having their vehicle seized, attending a formal recorded interview as well as fines of up to Shaun Greig, the council's Enforcement Co-ordinator, says: "There's no excuse for this illegal activity with the council providing a free bulky waste collection service." He adds: "The public can help us tackle the issue head on by giving any information about people dumping rubbish. We need a description of the offender and the vehicle used, including the registration number and the location of the flytipping."
